'Santa' Parade Plans Completed

Now It's Furnished . . .

. . . Police Chief George Potter this week made his office in the new police station a slightly more familiar place by hanging up his diploma from the FBI academy in Washington, from which he was graduated in 1949. Other furnishings, such as desks and chairs, also arrived for the new station this week, which was occupied Monday.

Moving Police Was a Neat Job

Moving into the new Menlo Park police station, it appeared early this week, probably was about the slickest operation of its kind there ever was.

Some of the officers couldn't find chairs for a day or two and Chief George Potter—among others—didn't get a desk in his new office until Tuesday. Nevertheless, the whole operation was a smooth one and there was no interruption in the city's protective service.

First official emanation from the new station was a receipt radioed to officer Orlando Watson at 9:59 a.m., after he'd reported himself "in service" on motorcycle 52.

The city hall switchboard in the new station went into service about the same time; Operator Mrs. Eleanor Pirrone came to work at 9 a.m. and instead of reporting to the old station, reported to the new.

Telephone company employees spent the rest of the morning completing the hookup of her board, however.

The call in receipt of Watson's was sent out by Dispatcher Tom O'Donnell.

At 10:03 a.m. another important call was issued: It was one informing the Atherton police department that it was "on the air."

Atherton thereupon "fired up" its own radio transmitter, which hereafter will guide the movements of police in that city from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

'BASIC' MOVE

The basis of good law enforcement — the department's files—were moved in by noon.

Some time during the morning, according to Inspector Howard Schroeder, Officer Joseph Barnes came in to start moving things around in the new building's darkroom. He and Officer Harold Anderson do much of the department's photographic work.

Chief Potter stood by for a few minutes, during the morning, observing use of the "beat board" in the dispatcher's enclosure in the lobby.

The device, which shows with colored lights and numbered symbols what part of town each police vehicle is in, and who's driving it, is a custom-made job.

Lockers for Officers' gear which had been in the old police department had been moved over to a basement locker room in the new station last week.

A couple of sofas for the lobby also were moved in early. They replace the hard, ugly chairs which have been around the old station for years.

Getting Up . . .

. . . street decorations on Santa Cruz avenue were members of the city street department. Shown are Tony Louis, top and George Fisher, rigging up the Santa Clauses which adorn electroliers along Santa Cruz avenue.

Fires:

AT 1000

Menlo Park Fire District firemen on Nov. 22 answered their 1000th call of the year.

The milestone, they said, was reached a couple of weeks earlier this year than last — a reflection, they added, of increased growth of population in the district.

The blaze was "rung in" at 9:19 p.m. and called the firemen to the home of Sarah White, 1112 Del Norte avenue. A chesterfield had caught fire as the result of a dropped cigaret, the firemen said.

Actually, the firemen went on to say, the number of "building" fires has decreased in proportion to the population since adoption of an inspection program two years ago. The number of other types of emergencies to which firemen are called has grown, however.

19 Units Are Signed

With 10 full days to go before the event itself, Menlo Park-Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce officers this week announced that 19 marching units already have signed for their annual "Welcome Santa" parade to be held Dec. 10.

Too, it was announced this week by Bruce A. Black, parade chairman, there was a possibility that other units would decide to enter in the waning days of preparation, since the Jaycees sent out 35 invitations to units which have participated in previous parades.

Black said he couldn't hazard a guess as to the kind of weather that would greet Santa Claus on the occasion of the official welcome to the city.

He noted, however, that on most previous occasions Old Sol has seen fit to smile his greeting down on the cheery fellow from the North Pole, even as the thousands of youngsters who line the parade route annually smile their greetings up at him.

In his preliminary announcement, Black also announced that judges of the affair have been named.

The judges — L. L. Johnston, manager of the Bank of America branch here; William Lawson, mayor, and C. Eugene Kerwin, insurance broker — will decide which of the entries are the best in several categories, and award trophies to the outstanding ones.

As in past years, he said, the paraders will form their ranks on Johnson street, marching east on Santa Cruz avenue to the most easterly entrance of the Camino Parking Plaza.

The entries range from individual riders on expertly trained western parade horses to troupes of youngsters from area dancing schools.

Members of the Block M-A Society at Menlo - Atherton High School will help Santa by distributing candy to youngsters along the line of march.

But as in all previous parades, the big attraction will be Santa himself, riding alone in solitary grandeur on a float by himself, waving happy greetings to all.

FIREMEN STAND

Firemen Friday evening at 5:39 p.m. were called to the intersection of Isabella and Brittan avenues in Atherton, where a transformed had short-circuited in the rain. They

Referendum Suggested:

Fluoride Issue 'Tabled' Here

Menlo Park City Councilmen have publicly proclaimed themselves uninterested in fluoridating city water.

They tabled the issue for "further study" at the conclusion of last week's Council session attended by a full house of 60 persons.

Only Councilman Charles Anderson, the newest Council member, expressed a desire to hear more on the subject.

At his request, the "further study" phrase was tacked onto the tabling motion. When the "further study" would take place was not made clear.

The position of the Council majority — Mayor William R. Lawson, Michael Belangie, Silas Payne and Ira Bonde—was that the city administration should not be in the position of forcing fluoridated water upon those residents who don't want it.

Controlled addition of fluorides to water is held by many authorities to be a proved method of deterring teeth decay.

But many persons oppose it on religious grounds or because they are convinced that it has side effects that cancel out any possible values.

Mrs. William L. Downey, who presented the fluoridation plan, said this week that there is no present proposal, as far as she knew, to seek a city referendum on the issue.

This was the suggestion made by Belangie at the meeting.

Mrs. Downey's original proposal was that a study committee be formed to tackle pros and cons of fluoridation and issue a report to the Council for their action.

With her were Dr. Thomas Beare, dental officer with the California State Public Health Service; Dr. Daniel Rectanus, local pediatrician, Henry Leicester, Phd., of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, San Francisco; Eugene Howell, San Mateo County sanitarian, and dentist Norman McFate.

PETITION

Mrs. Downey, 485 Cotton street, Menlo Park, acted as spokesman for the group. She offered a petition signed by 250 Menlo Park residents asking formation of the special committee.

In a brief talk, she declared that the "need for fluoridation is certainly evident."

She cited the cost of introducing controlled amounts of fluoride into the water supply as from four to 15 cents per person per month. The cost varies in proportion to the amount of natural fluoride in the water, she said.

Mrs. Downey handed Councilmen a long list of organizations which support water fluoridation, including the American Medical Association and American Dental Association.

McFate noted that there are 20 to 30 minerals in the water which Menlo Park people drink and that these "are not always in the best ratio. The proposal is to adjust the amount of fluoride . . . it is a proved fact that it is a help to dental health. As a dentist, I would be delighted to see dental costs of the public reduced."

The persons speaking against fluoridation in Menlo Park were from Palo Alto, Sunnyvale and San Mateo. One Menlo Park man also opposed it vocally.

'POISON'

The speakers were Steven Koss, 434 Kipling street, Palo Alto; Walter Palm of Sunnyvale, Ben L. Voss, 1185 Hillview, Menlo Park, and a lady from San Mateo who did not give her name but described herself as a grandmother interested in preserving the constitutional rights of people to receive or reject "medication."

Koss declared that, although he lived in Palo Alto, he made special efforts to drink Menlo Park water because Palo Alto's is fluoridated. He told Councilmen that "fluoride is dynamite . . . you shouldn't fool around with known poisons. . .."

Voss, the Menlo Park resident, said fluoridation would probably mean higher taxes, meaning double taxation for those local residents who would purchase other non-fluoridated water for personal use.

Palm held center stage for almost an hour, declaring that if he couldn't convince proponents that fluoridation was dangerous, "I will eat my shirt." He asserted there was much medical opinion against fluoridation and that the expense would be much greater than quoted by Mrs. Downey.

City Councilmen gave these opinions:

Mayor William R. Lawson: "We as laymen are not capable of determining the merits or demerits of fluoridation. . . . I don't see that it's our function to tell 26,000 people 'You must drink fluoridated water'."

Michael Belangie: "I, as an individual, do not feel competent to make a decision of this kind. The best I can conclude is that you people (the proponents) bring it to the voters in a referendum."

Charles Anderson: 'I'd like to see the way kept open for further study . . . the weight of professional opinion seems to favor fluoridation. . . I'd like the opportunity to learn the facts."

Silas Payne: "I'm inclined to go along with the Mayor . . . my own daughter takes special pills given to her by the dentist. Perhaps this is the way it should be done."

Ira Bonde: "It is my position, too, that the matter be put on the ballot for the people to decide, irrespective of how I may feel about it personlly."

The motion tabling the fluoridation proposal was then unanimously passed with Anderson holding out for possible future study before voting aye.

Atherton Radio For Police Is 'on the Air'

At 10:03 a.m. Monday, "Atherton radio" officially went on the air.

That's the hour at which Menlo Park police officially informed the gendarmes of that city that they were in charge of their own radio operation, during daytime hours.

Mrs. Ida Dean, department clerk, will be operator of the transmitter most of the time on weekdays but Sergeant Shirlen Flanders and Lieutenant David Silva also will take stints operating the station, which will direct Atherton's police cars between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

During the other hours of the 24, Atherton units will continue to be directed from the Menlo Park station. A direct-line telephone hookup makes it possible to get the Menlo Park dispatcher by dialing Atherton police department's number at any hour.

Police Ready For Auction In Atherton

Atherton Police Chief Leroy Hubbard has hunted up his trusty gavel and, he reports this week, is all ready for Saturday morning's bicycle auction.

The affair gets underway at the Atherton police station, Ashfield road and Station lane, at 10 a.m.

To be sold are approximately 25 bikes in various states of repair, most of which were found abandoned by officers in patrol, the chief says.

All have been stored by the police for more than a year and haven't been claimed by anybody, so they're fair game for bidders who'll have a good price range in the selection because some of the machines are more complete than others.

An assortment of other odd items also will go on sale, Chief Hubbard continued.

Thanksgiving Day Fire Caused by Boy Plus Matches

A five-year-old boy who played with matches accounted for the only call the firemen got on Thanksgiving Day. He also accounted for an estimated $1200 damage to his parent's home, firemen said.

The lad, son of Mrs. Madeline Maiden of 1113 Windermere street, later admitted taking some matches into a closet in a bedroom and lighting them, firemen said.

Council Flays 'Smog' Board In Session Here

If Bay Area Air Pollution District board members expect muncipalities to do the job of enforcing "clean air" statutes, they are shirking their own duty, Menlo Park City councilmen vehemently declared Tuesday night.

Council members were reacting to Councilman Ira Bonde's report at the study meeting on a recent district action turning down chief district officer Benjamin Linsky's request for funds for enforcement personnel.

Bonde said the air pollution board's position was that the burden of making the law work was on the collective back of the cities and counties.

Mayor William R. Lawson was irked at this attitude.

"We have a very serious smog problem in the bay area," he said. "I don't feel 75 jurisdictions here can control it uniformly . . . this is why the district was formed in the first place."

Councilman Charles Anderson said that if the board "doesn't assume this responsibility, they are wasting their time."

"It seems they are evading the issue," Bonde agreed.

Councilmen directed City Attorney James O'Keefe to draw up a resolution protesting the policy and indicated they would vote on it at their next regular meeting.

Access Now 'Adequate':

State Denies Freeway Outlet For Belle Haven Traffic

Request for access from Pierce road and Del Norte avenue onto Bayshore freeway has been turned down by the state division of highways. City Traffic Safety commissioners learned recently.

The request was made several months ago after representatives of the Belle Haven Mutual Improvement Association cited the fact that the road, which would feed only into the highway's northbound lanes, would relieve congestion in the area of the Willow road overpass and the Willow road - Newbridge street intersection.

The access road would have been from Pierce road in the vicinity of Del Norte avenue.

In a reply to the city's request for study of the matter, division of highways officials said they'd made traffic counts and other surveys which indicated present access from Belle Haven to the Bayshore was adequate.

Atherton Eyes Annexation To the West

Atherton is about to be approached concerning annexation of 40 acres of property on both sides of Walsh road between Reservoir road and the new Junipero Serra Freeway, Atherton town councilmen learned Monday night.

But the councilmen insisted that if the area is brought into the town limits, a six-inch non-access strip along the Sharon Estate portion of the annexation must be deeded to the town to prevent a heavy flow of traffic into town on Walsh road.

About 15 acres of the Sharon Estate, nine acres of Stanford land and 16 acres of private property are included in the proposed annexation, town engineer Ed Smith reported.

City administrator Howard Boren said that the six-inch strip could be turned over to the town, after making inquiries to Emmett Cashin, vice president of Fox and Carskadon, Sharon Heights realtors. The strip would be along the proposed Sharon Heights golf course.

Private property owners in on this are Sam Wright Jr., 620 Walsh road; D. L. Samuels, 500 Walsh road; H. W. Derty, 387 Walsh road, and Mrs. B. J. Fiegenbaum, 969 Walsh road.

Boys' Choir Gets TV Bid

The Boys' Choir of the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church will appear on KPIX-TV, Channel 5, in a half-hour program early Christmas Eve.

J. Hubbard, program manager for KPIX, heard the boys last year in a rehearsal of Christmas music and was impressed by their work on Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of the Carols."

The boys will sing these difficult carols of Britten's, written especially for boys' voices with harp accompaniment.

Marjory Trammel, harpist from Stanford, will accompany the boys.

Robert Quade is choirmaster.

Cancels Meeting

November meeting of the Menlo Park Fire District board of commissioners, originally to have been held Nov. 14, finally was cancelled altogether after it was found two members of the three-man board would be out of town Nov. 28.

Annual Event:

Menlo Realtors Ready Home Decorations Contest Here

1959 Yule Decoration Winner . . .

. . . Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith, 1765 Oak avenue, Menlo Park, utilized virtually their whole front yard to set up the display that caught the eye of judges for the Menlo Park-Atherton Board of Realtors annual Christmas home decorating contest. Mrs. Smith(above) was pictured as she received the $25 cash prize for first place from Ron Ferguson, former board president. Judging of this year's entries will be held on Monday, Dec. 19.

—Recorder photo

The Menlo Park-Atherton Board of Realtors will once more this year, conduct their traditional Christmas Home Decorating Contest, it was announced by President David Ingram Jr.

As in past years the most outstanding home will receive a check for $25 with the second place receiving $15 and the third $10. A committee of local judges will view homes of entrants on the evening of Dec. 19 and the awards will be announced immediately thereafter, said Ingram.

Jay Finley, local Realtor and member of the board of directors of the Board of Realtors, has acted as committee chairman to assemble the necessary elements of the contest. He has succeeded in getting the following judges to serve:

Ellsworth Marugg, assistant art director of Sunset Magazine; Tim Kiffune, a local free-lance commercial artist, and Ernest Wennhold, art consultant for the Menlo Park City School District.

August Associates, a member firm of the Board of Realtors, has agreed to supply the transportation for the evening of the 19th. Homes may be entered in the contest by sending the coupon printed herewith, or by obtaining an entry blank at the Board office, 631 Menlo avenue. The contest will close on Monday, Dec. 19, with entries being accepted up to 5 p.m. on that day.

This traditional event has always been a big one during the holiday season here in the attractive area of Menlo Park and Atherton. It is the Realtors' way of giving heartfelt season's greetings to the area in which they live and work.

W'side Fireman Returns Home

William Wilke, Woodside volunteer fireman who almost lost his right eye while on duty, is back home this week following surgery at Sequoia Hospital. The bandages have been removed and he is reported making good progress.

The 59-year-old caretaker and superintendent of the Stanley Harris estate was fighting a brush fire in Huddar Park when a tree limb accidentally hit him in the eye, smashing his spectacles.

Firemen Nov. 21 were called to 2549 Fordham street, where accumulated grease in an oven took fire. The blaze was reported at 5:01 p.m.

Toys for Tots Drive Set by Marine Units

Marine Reservists will spearhead a campaign this year to bring Christmas happiness to thousands of underprivileged children in the Bay Area.

The annual "Toys for Tots" drive was launched the day after Thanksgiving and will continue until Christmas. Goal of the Marine Corps Reservist toy collectors will be at least one plaything for every needy child.

Area residents will be asked to contribute new or usable playthings to the campaign.

Toy collection barrels will be set up at all Shell Oil stations in the Greater Bay Area. San Mateo County and East Bay Marine Reservists will also handle collections through schools and fire stations.

Nearly 7000 underprivileged children in the Greater Bay Area received 28,000 Christmas gifts through the Marine Corps Reserve's "Toys for Tots" drive last year.

Palo Alto Asks for More:

City Fathers Balk at New Price for Water System

Menlo Park city fathers are about ready to cancel further negotiations to purchase an ancient water system from Palo Alto that furnishes water to a portion fo the Willows area.

And they are talking about possibly duplicating it, instead, through an assessment district or by other means.

This development came to pass because Palo Alto councilmen have refused to lower their asking price of $70,000.

Menlo Park has offered $35,000 for the system, which is currently providing water from old pipes that impart what water users feel is a somewhat distinctive flavor.

City Manager John R. Johnson said that Palo Alto is using a formula of setting up a sale price which is used by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. when they sell utilities to Palo Alto. Palo Alto Councilmen feel the same formula of obtaining the sale value of utilities ought to be applied when they sell as well as when they buy.

But, Johnson noted, he can find no parallel in this area for the formula used by Palo Alto.

"I think we would be justified in putting in a new system alongside the old one," Councilman Michael Belangie declared.

Ways and means of financing this might include an assessment district or bonds, Johnson said. He indicated, however, that the Council ought to be wary of setting a precedent by duplicating a service because people are complaining about it.

"We couldn't afford to do this every time such a request came in," he said.

"What would happen to the old system if it were duplicated?" Belangie asked.

"It'd gather rust," Councilman Ira Bonde said. Bonde pointed out that he continues to get complaints about the taste of water in the affected area.

Councilmen appeared to feel they would be within their legal rights to take action to seek better water service.

Johnson said the Palo Alto stand would be taken before the water commission on Monday, Dec. 12, and would come before the Council for official consideration, along with the commission's recommendations, on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

No Appeal Yet In Nursery School Denial

As of then, City Manager John R. Johnson said yesterday, no appeal has been filed against the planning commissions's ban of a school for emotionally disturbed children at 444 Oak court.

Miss Mary Bent, the applicant and operator of the Peninsula Childrens' center in Palo Alto, was turned down last week, when planners decided it would not constitute an harmonious use in the neighborhood.

At an earlier meeting, the planners had heard residents of the Oak court area protest against the proposed school. Miss Bent and parents of some of the children attending, as well as persons indicating an interest in child welfare, said they were for it.

Planners, in turning down the request for a use permit, said they did so while realizing the cause was a worthy one.

Miss Bent was advised of her right to appeal the decision to the council.

Honor Roll For Menlo Oaks Listed

Menlo Oaks junior school's honor roll for the first quarter included 28 students, it was announced this week.

Twelve of those named were seventh graders and 16 are members of the eighth grade class.

Those rating high scholastically in the seventh grade are (in alphabetical order): Gayle Arthur, Audrey Brecker, Robin Clarke, Catherine Hewett, Christine Keller, Elizabeth Lyon, Mike Meyerhof, Carla Mitvalsky, Richard Mong, Catherine White, Deborah Whitehead and Constance Wilder.

Eighth grade honor roll members: Carol Abbott, Barbara Altorfer, Richard Blackmarr, Sharon Brigham, Ann Fablinger, Irene Forster, Francesca Hampton, Andrea Jones, Sue Lacost, Robert Lynds, Donna Mueller, Toni Perazzo, Kathleen Roy, John Rudquist, Cheryl Stott, Eleanor White.

Mrs. Kurt Appert To Aid Heart Fund Appeal

Mrs. Kurt Appert of Atherton has just been appointed south county chairman for the 1961 Heart Sunday residential campaign on Feb. 22-26, with responsibilities for Atherton, Belmont, East Palo Alto, Menlo Park, Pescadero, Portola Valley, Redwood City, San Carlos and Woodside.

The appointment was announced by Mrs. James S. Edwards of San Carlos, 1961 Heart Sunday chairman for the San Mateo County Heart Association.

City chairmen for the South County will be announced shortly by Mrs. Appert.

In accepting the appointment, Mrs. Appert pointed out that personal Heart Fund contributions make possible the support of cardiovascular research in California, and aid scientists in clinics and university laboratories throughout the United States.

Cited for Work

Twenty-one Scout unit leader citations were issued recently at the annual recognition dinner for the Live Oak District of the San Mateo County Boy Scout Council.

The awards were issued for units which have fulfilled the Scouts' "Onward for God and Country" goals during the past year.

Units honored included 11 Scout troops: 102, 206, 151, 163, 204, 107, 205, 333, 103, and 118.

Two Explorer posts also received the citation. They were Posts 205 and 223.

Also eight Cub Scout packs: 102, 204, 208, 66, 114, 200, 109 and 118.

Board Reviews Student Tests

The general academic potential of Woodside Elementary School students will be scrutinized by the school board at its regular meeting next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Superintendent Lester Larsen said that results will be in at that time on tests given third through eighth grade students in early October. Measuring academic ability, they are put by Science Research Associates.

The board also expects to receive a progress report on the district's master plan.

Here Last Night:

San Mateo College President Describes 'Functions' of JC

The "vocational-technical" function and the "salvage" function are the most important area of effectiveness of the junior college, College of San Mateo President Dr. Julio Bortolazzo told an audience here last night.

The purpose of such schools were described before the Hillview School PTA, at a meeting at the school.

Dr. Bortolazzo, in his talk, skirted the topic of the forthcoming election which would annex the Sequoia High School District to the CSM district.

He did, however, emphasize that post-high school education is of growing importance in this area, no matter what decision the voters make.

The "vocational-technical" function of a junior college, Dr. Bortolazzo said, consists of a program of two years or shorter, designed to prepare students for immediate employment.

"Repeatedly," he said, "national reports have urged Americans to remember that our technological society requires large numbers of well-educated skillful technicians.

"We have failed to make the best use of our engineers, for example, because of the need to use these professional men in assignments which should be filled by technicians," he said.

Among other fields in which there is a shortage of workers where a junior college could be of help is that of nursing," he said.

'LOCAL CONTROL'

Local control of a junior college is essential if it is to perform, its training function properly, according to the college president.

"In the vocational and technical fields the unique value of the junior college become apparent, inasmuch as local control of community-centered college becomes apparent, inasmuch as local control of community-centered colleges permits them to adapt swiftly to the changing needs of each area," he explained.

"At the moment, for example, the peninsula requires large numbers of electronic technicians. A few years hence the great hue and cry may be for more computer technicians. Whatever the needs, the junior colleges will be close to each local labor market. Through advisory committees representing industry, local colleges can be alerted promptly to new trends," Bortolazzo pointed out.

Concerning the "salvage" function, Dr. Bortolazzo explained that many students don't give a true indication of their aptitude in high school, and therefore are unable to meet college entrance requirements.

"The college admits all of those who have graduated from high school or who are over 18 years of age and able to profit from college instruction.

"Once enrolled, however, the student finds he must maintain a C-minus average.

"Thus," Bortolazzo went on, "the junior college formula involves two elements which mean democratic opportunity for serious students — the 'open door' admission policy, coupled with the demand for high performance."

He pointed out that a state master plan for higher education predicts tripling of college enrollments in California by 1975 with junior college enrollment in the state rising from 100,000 to 300,000.

He also noted some advantages to such colleges: Since they are situated in relatively central areas in relation to the students they serve, many of the latter can live at home, thus lowering the expense of education to themselves.

Atherton Girl Named 'Queen'

Mary Mahaney, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mahaney of 244 Park lane in Atherton, this week was reigning as Homecoming Queen at Loyola University in Los Angeles.

Miss Mahaney is a sophomore at Marymount College

She was crowned at a dance Sunday night, and was to reign over festivities lasting through tomorrow.

START PAVING JOB

Installation of paving, curbs and gutters along Glenwood avenue in front of the Menlo Park School District's administrative offices started this week.

Burch Bros., Menlo Park contractors, are in charge of the job.

Incinerator Razing Near at Hand

The incinerator that didn't work and which was supposed to be dismantled by Oct. 15 is still standing at the South San Mateo County Garbage Disposal District's dump, but it won't be for long.

Most recent move to get rid of the 60-foot-high, $200,000 burner was made last week by the district's board of trustees, who set Jan. 1 as a new deadline for its demise.

Tex Bean, Redwood City contractor who has the job of taking the device down, has already removed just about all auxiliary parts except the hopper pit, inclined chute which was supposed to feed the device and the actual incinerator stack itself.

Filters installed only a couple of months before use of the device was abandoned in July and which have been the subject of a lein, have been removed and are in storage on the premises.

Dean Haug, manager for the district, said that the crew at the dump removed tin from a shed which used to cover the hopper attached to the device and have used it in the building of a shed for their tractor and other equipment.

He added that Bean has been unable to continue the dismantling job during recent rainy weather because of the possibility of getting his mobile equipment mired.

CLUB TO MEET

Regular meeting of the Portola Valley 4-H Club will be held on Dec. 5. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the Portola Valley School multi-use room.

Las Lomitas Plans New Kindergarten

The Las Lomitas School Board this week has ordered preliminary drawings for a second kindergarten at the Las Lomitas School.

The new kindergarten will permit the district to eliminate two kindergarten classes now held at the Ladera Community Church. It will also reduce transportation costs, since children attending it will live within three-quarters of a mile.

Trustees instructed Superintendent Lawrence Fuller to order first drawings and cost and time estimates from the school district architect, Peter Kump.

Fuller said plans call for completion and occupancy of the new room by next September. Architect Kump estimated last year that the total cost would run about $30,000.

The new kindergarten will be paid for from undistributed reserve.

In other recent business, the school board approved a change order for construction of a concrete terrace and fence adjoining the La Entrada School, and for increasing the bicycle parking area and laying additional blacktop at La Entrada. The total cost will be $1695.

'Classical Italian Yule Music' Topic of Program at Library

Frank de Bellis, noted Bay area art patron, will present the third annual Christmas music program to be held at the Menlo Park Library, Thursday evening, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m.

"Classical Italian Christmas Music" will be the topic and de Bellis has prepared special tape recordings for the program.

Co-sponsors for the evening will be the Menlo Park Friends of the Library and the Menlo-Atherton Guild of Peninsula Symphony Auxiliary. This will be the second time the Guild has co-sponsored the Christmas program as a part of its purpose to develop interest and appreciation of serious music in the community.

The guest speaker, a San Francisco lawyer, presents a weekly program, "Music of the Italian Masters" on radio KPFA in Berkeley which is repeated on a New Orleans station. de Bellis originated the program on the former KSMO in San Mateo.

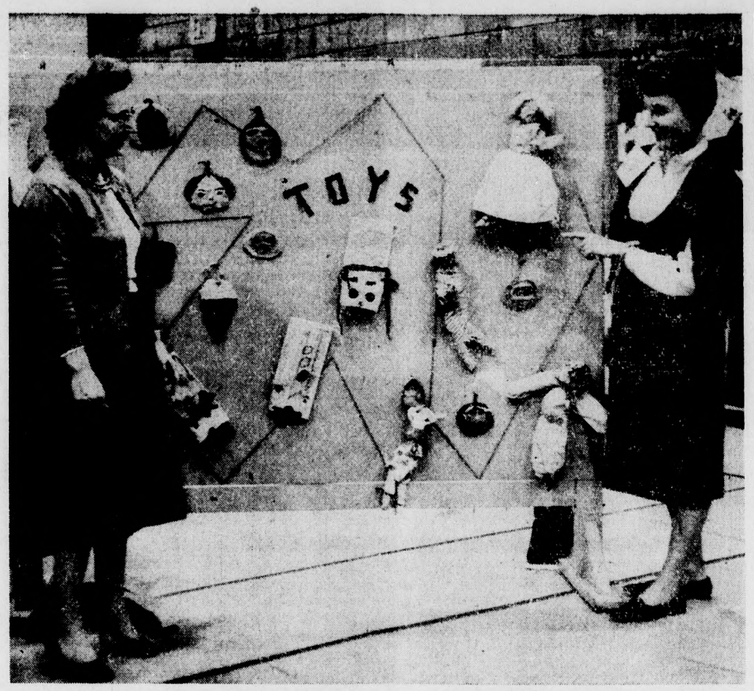
de Bellis has presented programs at Stanford University, San Jose State College, Santa Clara university and the University of San Francisco, among others. On permanent exhibit at USF is a collection of valuable Etruscan art which de Bellis acquired for the university through the cooperation of the Italian government. In order to persuade the Italian officials to permit the objects to leave the country, he exchanged with Italy some of his collection of pre-Columbian art.

de Bellis was a member of the "Mayor's Committee of Fifty" in support of the San Francisco Public Library and he is a past-president of the Friends of the Library there.

His sister, Mrs. Samuel Hale, lives here in Menlo Park.

Lloyd Rogers, vice-president of the Friends will host the meeting and Mrs. Robert McSweeney, president of the Symphony Guild, is in charge of arrangements.

A coffee hour will be held following the program which is open to the public.



Showing Their Classes' Work . . . . . . last week at the Laurel School multi-purpose room, teachers Mary Krug (left) and Mary Crenshaw stand by their display. The occasion was a teachers' workshop for planning and supervising of Christmas projects for this holiday season. The Laurel School classes built and assembled the many displays, featuring everything from toys to replicas of stained glass windows.

Atherton Council Approves County's Sales Tax Plan

Caught unprepared but not unaware by the new San Mateo take action quickly so as not to take effect Jan. 1, the Atherton town council Monday night decided it had better ordinance, the town or city to miss out on the new source of revenue.

By adopting the tax by town ty of Menlo-Atherton High in which the tax is collected would keep 95 per cent of the proceeds, the new county ordinance stipulates.

Not wishing to be an exception but noting that the legal technicalities take time, the council adjourned this meeting until 5 p.m. Monday, Dec. 5, after introducing the ordinance. Councilmen figured that final adoption at next Monday's meeting would allow enough time for the agreements with the county to be drawn up.

As City Administrator Howard Boren put it, "If we want to salvage anything, we should adopt it."

No one estimated how much this would bring into the town coffers, since Atherton's ban on commercial enterprises in the town have kept these down to a single service station, the Menlo Circus Club and the Menlo School and College student store.

Atherton Mayor Henry Kuechler brought up the interesting angle that "tax invoices marked Atherton for some other businesses would make them illegal. There's no telling what we'll find. We might flush out a few female interior decorators or some of these people who work out of their coat pockets, such as manufacturers' agents and so on."

Town Attorney Winston C. Black dismissed fears that collecting the tax from these businesses would impair their illegal status. A simple clause in the agreement stating that Atherton doesn't waive its ban on these illegal enterprises would do it, he said.

The county would get all tax money collected if the town didn't adopt the sales tax, Boren said.

In other action, the council:

Granted variances to J. Herzog, 448 El Camino Real and Ralph C. Hird, 197 Atherton avenue, for swimming pools in their side yard areas.

Granted a variance to W. F. Bauer, 1 Ashfield road, to reduce the side yard requirement by eight inches to permit lengthening of the garage.

Turned down approval of a tentative map subdividing the Huenergardt property at the corner of Camino al Lago and Linda Vista avenue into three lots.

'Island' Remains:

Woodside Gas Station Move Not Allowed by Planners

Woodside's Standard Oil station — long considered an unsightly and hazardous "island" in the center of town—was denied permission to move to a nearby location this week.

The planning commission Monday night unanimously vetoed an application to relocate the station to Mrs. Adele Cummings' Our Hill property on the north side of Woodside road, across from the Pioneer Hotel.

One of the prime reasons for the denial was the commission's uncertainty as to how the present and proposed station sites would be used.

Questioned on the abandonmen of the present station, a Standard Oil official said it would mean the dismantling of the facility. However, he was not prepared to say what would happen to the land.

More than 50 persons attended the public hearings on the applications to rezone the Cummings property—.607 acres—to commercial status and for a conditional use permit. The meeting was adjourned from the town hall to the fire station to accommodate the crowd.

Mrs. Gertrude Talbot, commission chairman, expressed doubt that the proposed new site would alleviate traffic congestion along Woodside road at the present time.

The Cummings application stressed that such relocation would lessen the traffic problem, provide more parking space in the business area and reduce the danger of explosive gas in the town's center.

Frank Crist, Mrs. Cummings' attorney, said he was "taken aback" at the commission's attitude and that he thought they'd go along with the Town Center plan which they helped formulate. The plan stipulates the Cummings property as suitable for a gas station.

"If the plan hadn't shown a station at this site, we wouldn't be here tonight," he explained. "We thought we were doing what you wanted us to do."

'SETBACK'

Woodside's planning consultant, William Spangle Jr., said that if a conditional use permit were granted, the new site would have to provide enough setback for a future four-lane highway.

"I don't think you want or will get a four-lane divided highway," Crist countered. He also heatedly pointed out that property rights are not regulated by the vote of the people after the Woodside Valley Property Owners Association registered opposition to the new site.

Leo Kubaske, owner of the shopping area at Woodside and Canada roads, visualized a rash of gas stations, liquor stores and nighteries in Woodside if planners approved the application.

Mrs. Cummings has 10 days from the date of the hearing to appeal to the Woodside Town council. Attorney Crist said she hadn't indicated what she would do.

In other business, the commission:

Approved a conditional use permit for a future hall, school convent and rectory for St. Marcellus church at 1101 Canada road.

Continued until Dec. 22 an application by John N. and Florence Brown, 896 Canada road, to obtain conforming status for an existing boarding stable and riding and jumping recreational facilities.

Approved the division of a 10.5 acre parcel into two sites of 6.7 and 3.8 acres on the Allen L. Chickering property, 300 Family Farm drive.

As We See It:

Some View Holidays As Big Booby-Trap

For the past several weeks the National Safety Council, various insurance companies, and other agencies concerned with safety and longevity have been pelting us with "pre-Christmas" literature.

According to them, a holiday can be a pretty grim thing.

You're to congratulate yourself if the whole thing doesn't degenerate into a catastrophe, from which no member of the family escapes in one piece.

The literature suggests all sorts of things that can happen — nay, must happen — to a statistically certain portion of the population.

Here are some of the things foreseen:

Dad getting run down by a drunken driver, as he leaves the office party to spend the Yule with his family.

The baby electrocuting himself, as he gums a faulty electrical cord.

Grandmother breaking her hip, when she falls from the unsteady chair on which she was standing, while placing ornaments on the tree.

Mom burning herself seriously and painfully, when the over-hot oven starts the turkey-juice afire.

Junior suffering serious internal cuts, created when he started eating the glass ornaments on the Christmas tree.

Sister hacking her hands to ribbons, because she uses improper technique in cutting out paper decorations.

The house burning down, because candles are placed too close to the drapes.

And so on.

After all this, the dog leaves home too, because he can't stand the sight of so much self-inflicted mayhem.

Seriously, there's a certain amount of purpose behind all the dire warnings we've heard. But we can all be thankful that the full budget of holiday misfortune is seldom dropped on one household, too.

Even so, just a minor variation of any one of the domestic mischances listed above can go a long way toward wrecking a holiday.

Don't let the unhappy possibilities get you down, but keep them in mind.

Business Community Should Take Initiative

Last week, the Recorder carried a story in which City Planner Robert Gray was quoted as saying the Chamber of Commerce and the downtown merchants would have to "carry the ball," if completely-developed offstreet parking and commercial space becomes a reality in the area bounded by Santa Cruz and Menlo avenues, and Univtrsity drive and El Camino Real.

This is as it should be. Those primarily concerned with the business health of the community should be the first to promote for more and better facilities.

It has long been the city's official view that cost of offstreet parking is one of the costs of doing business; the city has therefore refrained from installing parking meters and, in effect, thereby supplementing downtown merchants by sticking the prospective customer with the cost.

By extension of this policy, the city also has seen to it that such offstreet parking as we now enjoy is financed through assessment districts composed of properties benefittin directly from such space.

The plan works.

Carried to a logical new level, the downtown property owners involved ought to be able to plan development layouts acceptable to the city, the participants in previous assessment districts and themselves. The city, if this level ever were to be achieved, would be in the position of a sort of regulator, nodding approval of the adopted layout.

Things actually won't be this easy, though, because the owners involved probably won't be able to get together with sufficient amiability and generosity to work for what the majority will probably term "the greatest good for the greatest number."

At this point, "city hall" will be asked to step in, using its right of eminent domain.

Immediately, there'll be outcries and "city hall" will be blamed for whatever supposed inequities seem to have developed.

Actually, they shouldn't be blamed at all — when things get to the stage above described. They'll only move in when the actions of the owners participation have come to a standstill, and nobody, we fell sure, wants to see the downtown area held in the grip of a perpetual stalemate.

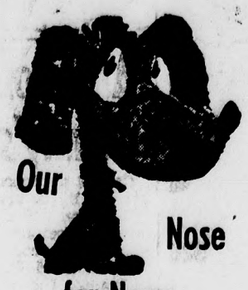
'Left Turn' Lights Won't Speed Traffic

A couple of weeks ago the city's traffic safety commission asked that "left turn" signals be placed at El Camino Real's intersection with Valparaiso and Santa Cruz avenues.

Reason for the recommendation, which must get the okay of the city council; and which then must be forwarded to the state division of highways, is a good one: safety.

Don't be fooled, though. Putting another cycle in the light pattern probably won't speed the flow of traffic very much, if at all. Signal lights never have. The purpose of a signal is to slow traffic down, to keep motorists from killing themselves and others.



TELLS US:

Sam Marks, secretary-manager for the Menlo Park-Atherton Board of Realtors, comes up with:

"A committee is something that spends hours and writes minutes."

The walk in front of the new police station apparently got put in without the "help" of those who would have liked to have carved messages in the moist concrete, Police Chief George Potter reports.

He adds that he's happy he has an investigation he doesn't have to make.

As a matter of fact, none of the executives at city hall were at hand a week ago Monday morning, when the stuff was poured. So they couldn't imprint any "authorized" messages, and couldn't set any precendents for the "gremlins"

• • •

It didn't seem to make much sense, but the first piece of furniture moved into Police Chief George Potter's new office on Monday was his typewriter.

This seemed strange for a while, but in a couple of hours the chief got a table to put it on, and a chair to sit in.

He obviously couldn't do any business at his old desk in the former Girl Scout house back of the station, because somebody had thoughtfully cleared it of its pencils, calendars, photos of members of the family, bookends and lamps and stuffed them into a box.

* * *

Jake, the cheerful seagull who watches things at the Sanitary District Sewage treatment plant, returned during the weekend, thereby making the prediction of the type of weather we're now enjoying more authentic.

* * *

Gremlins have succeeded in turning the street sign at Valparaiso avenue and Elder street, so strangers won't be able to tell which thoroughfare they're on.

* * *

There's a mystery at the Menlo Park police department:

Who will be the auctioneer, when the department sells off more than 30 unclaimed bicycles Dec. 17?

Inspector Howard Schroeder, who has handled the job several times in the past, said yesterday he wasn't sure if he'd do it again this time, or not. Officer Harold Anderson conducted one of the sales last spring, he recalled, and may feel himself to be in good voice again two weeks hence.

For himself, Schroeder said, he would gladly yield his gavel to Anderson. On the other hand, he'd be happy to run the auction himself, if Anderson doesn't want to.

The sale, which commences at 10 a.m., was moved up from a proposed Dec. 10 date, since there'll be a parade in town on that day.

Syndicate Buys Sequoia Bonds

An investment syndicate managed by Crocker-Anglo National Bank and First Western Bank & Trust Co. today was the successful bidder for $1,100,000 par value Sequoia Union High School District 5 per cent, 3¾ per cent, 3½ per cent and 1 per cent bonds due 1962-1986.

The syndicate purchased the bonds at a net interest cost to the district of 3.48 per cent. The bonds were reoffered to investors to yield 1.85 per cent to 3.65 per cent.

"It all depends," we rejoined, "on how you got on top of him in the first place."

Municipal Report: 'Civil Defense Day' Dec. 7 Reminds of Activities Here

Next Wednesday, Dec. 7, has been designated National Civil Defense Day.

Though there's a feeling that a lot of national "days" honoring all sorts of projects, products and causes can be shrugged off, the relative importance of this one is being felt more and more strongly.

The "day" chosen on the calendar was that of the anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack of 1941, when the nation was found to be woefully unprepared at the instant it was embroiled in a war.

Today, the problem of "preparedness" for a possible nuclear war is a much greater one than that which confronted the country 19 years ago.

It's a different problem, too. Preparedness can't be confined to military installations to be effective—if, indeed, there is any effective preparation for what could well be a thermonuclear catastrophe.

Nor is active preparation for war all that can be asked: Passive preparedness, in the form of "fall-out shelters" for protection of the population, is also being asked.

All this might sound a little above the realm of municipal interest, in that it appears the "preparedness" program is a national one. However, certain local activities have already been undertaken, and there's a possibility of more in the future.

Last month, for instance, Stanford Research Institute hosted a meeting designed to acquaint architects and engineers with some of the things they can do to design buildings with provision for protection of its occupants with fallout.

The meeting was attended, too, by City Administrative Assistant Michael Bedwell and by Engineering Assistant Ed Ebaugh, who also became acquainted thereby with some of the thinking going on in the field.

The Office of Civil Defense Mobilization, which is directing the information about radioactive "fallout" around, appears to feel that a good future step would be to have shelters incorporated in the construction of new buildings, Ebaugh says.

The OCDM also is concerned that local building ordinances might hamper construction of such shelters, or make their cost prohibitive to the average private builder.

Here again, the operatives at the building department office says, local contractors have to stick to the building code and its main discouraging provisions, if they are so considered, are those calling for standard ventilation of underground areas.

Apparently, according to literature supplied, the OCDM is more concerned with the incorporation of fallout shelters in larger buildings, as compared to the more expensive "per capita" cost of such a shelter in the average home.

Shelters can be integrated into the design of most large public and industrial construction at the start, at relatively small cost. In fact, some new buildings might have well-sheltered areas in them, whether the original designer expected them to, or not.

However, the meeting at SRI was designed to acquaint architects and engineers with just what's needed, so they can make proper provisions in their future building designs, according to Bedwell and Ebaugh.

Nationally, the OCDM takes the view that adequate shelters could save the lives of millions, in the case of a nuclear war.

The country with the largest number of persons thus shielded and thus surviving would be the most likely to be able to rebuild after the first 20 or 30 minute holocaust which, presumably, would devastate all countries participating and probably others, too.

Stanford Research Institute itself has already set itself up to provide an example of how a large part of the population can be shielded.

Oddstad Property: Annexation Will Double Size Of Canada Water District

A proposed annexation which will more than double the area of Woodside's Canada County Water District will be up for public hearing on December 15.

Casting his lot with the district is Andres F. Oddstad, home biulder who owns 190 acres bordering the east side of Canada road. His petition to annex this acreage was received by the district's board of directors at its Nov. 17 meeting.

Eventually the proposed annexation would bring in 110 to 115 homes which Oddstad hopes to build within the next seven years. The water hook-up would be through the Toyon Knolls area of the district, along Godetia drive.

Oddstad said the entire home area will be called "The Uplands of Woodside." He hopes to build the first 10 or 15 homes next spring or summer.

The hearing on the acreage, which extends from Godetia drive to the vicinity of St. Marcellus Church, will be held at the home of the district's board chairman, Guilford Snyder, 117 Marva Oaks drive.

Work on the new district's $140,000 water main-pumping station system is progressing rapidly according to Wenrick and Associates, engineering firm handling the job. Tunneling for a 10-inch main along Canada road has been completed.

TIME SCHEDULE

Installation of the main and six-inch feeder lines serving Raymundo and Marva Oaks drives and parcels on Godetia drive and Jefferson avenue began this week. The pumping station should be finished late this month and the entire system by the first of the year, Wenrick said.

Oddstad said the State Highway Division recently approved purchase of 25 to 30 acres of the property for the proposed Junipero Serra Freeway.

The water system is being financed by general obligation and special assessment bonds. Snyder reported that of the $300,000 general obligation bonds unanimously approved by voters last spring some $85,000 is being used for the present construction.

Considerable rusting of present water mains is a principal reason for the installation. The district will continue to maintain a 40,000 gallon water tank.

The Readers Speak:

'NO LEFT TURN'

Editor, the Recorder:

So far from giving any consideration to drivers who wish to make a left-turn on El Camino Real at Middle avenue, Santa Cruz Avenue, Oak Grove avenue, and Valparaiso avenue, left-turns should be prohibited at these points, certainly during the hours from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Drivers proceeding north on El Camino Real whose destinations are in the area west of El Camino at Santa Cruz avenue, for example, would then learn that there is no loss of time, no danger, no harrassment of other drivers, if they make a RIGHT TURN at Oak Grove avenue, another right turn just before the railway tracks, and then a right turn on to Santa Cruz avenue in front of the railway station. Just as often as not the drivers would find the traffic light at the El Camino and Santa Cruz crossing in their favor and that they would be able to enter Santa Cruz avenue west of the highway without loss of time. Going south on El Camino Real a driver who wishes to reach the area to the east would soon learn that the easiest way is to drive to Santa Cruz avenue, make a right turn there and also at the alley just beyond the corner used-car lot. He would then come out on Oak Grove avenue where another right turn would enable him to cross El Camino Real on a green light.

I have no sympathy for drivers who wish to make left-turns on El Camino at points where there are traffic lights. A little common sense and some propaganda on the part of the authorities would show that circling a block on right turns is the easiest and safest way to cross El Camino real, and that left-turns at the particular points mentioned are unnecessary. The Middle avenue problem is a little different, but that too can be solved. At Valparaiso avenue, drivers who wish to go west ward will find that a RIGHT-TURN there, and the no U-turn at a proper point east of El Camino Real will solve their problem.

County Comment: Plans for Spending Sales Tax Funds Being Made by County

By FLOYD F. McCUE
Editor and Publisher, Redwood City Star-Advertiser

After licking their lips for several years, county and city officials will now have new millions to spend following adoption of the uniform county sales tax plan by the board of supervisors. To nine cities, the funds will be old stuff, but they hope to add a few more dollars to the coffers through more efficient collections by the state in spite of the fact that they have to give five per cent of the total over to the county.

Adoption of the tax came as no surprise to the people. It seemed inevitable and only a matter of time until the cities and county would agree on the division of the take. Even labor officials and leaders of COST (Committee Against Sales Tax) failed to voice opposition at any of the board of supervisors hearings.

Only one speaker spoke at the board meeting and he described everything as "deplorable" and singled out nothing in particular, but it was evident that he wanted a bigger cut in the property taxes.

One woman remarked that it was evident the public was not interested from the few spectators present.

Otherwise everything went smoothly. City councilmen appeared well pleased and felt they had won a big victory over the board. Actually they lost big money, however. The supervisors made it a part of the sales tax ordinance that the county would end its $100,000 a year handout to city road projects. On top of that $200,000 that would have gone to cities for roads as proposed in the county arguments for a 10 per cent take from the cities is lost to the municipalities. They may make an effort later to work out a similar arrangement but right now they appear so glad to have all the sales tax effective they don't need the county's help.

Neither the county nor the cities which are adopting their own sales tax ordinances will start receiving any money until after the first quarter ends March 31. But planning to spend the cash will get under way immediately.

The board of supervisors has slated a study meeting for Dec. 8 to work out a priority schedule for capital projects. The board has stipulated that all sales tax money will go to this end, which in itself will result in about a 10-cent cut in the property taxes. The State Board of Equalization has estimated the county will receive approximately a million dollars the first year, counting the take from the cities. This just about offsets the capital projects outlay in the 1960-61 budget.

County Manager E. R. Stallings is still trying to determine which of two projects should have the No. 1 rating . . . the five-story administration building or the new "L" addition to the Hall of Justice. At the present time he considers the latter project to be No. 1. The county already has been forced to place its seventh superior court in the old courthouse. By 1963, Stallings said, it was likely the county would need its eighth superior court as well as a third municipal court for the south county area. It is hoped to plan the new addition to take care of the needs for "a hundred years," as Stallings puts it.

Whichever project is picked first, it is hoped to be able to call for bids shortly after the start of the next fiscal year. Construction on either project would take about two years and the cost is about the same — two millions.

Plans for the administration building are practically completed but no start has been made on the Hall of Justice addition. Plans for this project could be prepared in six months, it was said.

We mentioned the possibility last week, but a move already has been started to increase the "in lieu" taxes on car registrations. The average would come to about $7.50 per car. This money goes to cities and counties for street purposes and would add considerable to revenues here.

The county, however, does not put its "in lieu" revenue in the road budget but in the general fund. After all the "in lieu" tax is collected in place of county or city property taxes on automobiles. Some cities have added their own property taxes to cars but no such move is even being discussed here, thank goodness.

If the "in lieu" boost goes over in the state legislature, there will be another move to increase the gasoline taxes another cent, again with bigger cuts to cities and counties for road work. So in addition to digging up about five millions the first year for sales taxes we face now new pinches from the state.

The big job will be to see that the new funds are wisely spent. We can expect a great push by city and county workers for higher pay checks although we have been paying comparable salaries to jurisdictions that have had the sales tax for years. If the people get the needed improvements through sales tax, plus a sizeable property tax cut, they will be satisfied. After all we were next to the last county to adopt the tax and that in itself is something that we can crow about.

25 Years Ago: Street Bond Delinquencies Posed Problem

The files of the Menlo Park Recorder reveal that 25 years ago this week, the following items, here reproduced exactly as first published, were news in the young community:

December 6, 1935:

At a meeting of the city council held Tuesday night to determine what should be done in the matter of the delinquent street bond payments, city attorney James O'Keefe explained the various methods that could be employed to clear the situation.

He explained that a general liability should not be maintained for the benefit of a few. His idea was that the burden of the improvement cost should fall on those who benefit by it. He was of the opinion that failure to exact payment from those who owe on the work only encourages others to become delinquent. The legislature provides foreclosure and tax sale remedies and the court says in determining this duty, the council should make use of this remedy. Unless foreclosure proceedings are started or much of the debt paid off before next April, the council will be faced with another 75 cent tax.

A general discussion was entered into by the board together with Messrs. Nesbitt, Drugg, Rankin, DeBold and Mielke and after much consideration Councilman E. H. Hart made the following motion:

"That the city enter into foreclosure proceedings against all lots which are in arrears four years on the first day of January, 1936 . . ."

The motion was seconded by Councilman Weeden and unanimously adopted.

Children Sow Flowers At Corte Madera

Youngsters at the Portola Valley's Corte Madera School will be busy labeling flowers next spring as part of an imaginative program to beautify the school grounds.

About 300 of the school children recently scattered more than five pounds of California wildflower seeds throughout the school's two acres along Alpine road.

The planting project's brainchild is Mrs. Hugh Southgate of 4666 Alpine road, who got the idea from slides presented at the fall meeting of the Woodside Garden Club. The slides were of Mrs. Alan Chickering's wildflower garden in Woodside.

Some six varieties of seeds contributed by garden club members were mixed with sand and topsoil by Joe Ulati, the school's caretaker, and scooped up in paper bags by the children.

The children had devoted their games period to the planting, said Mrs. Dorothy Telfer, school principal. But she hastened to add that the project, rather than recreational, will be principally valuable in their science studies.

Mrs. Chickering obtained the seeds from wildflower nurseries in Los Angeles and Claremont. "It may be four or five years before all of them appear," she said.

City Planner's Son Dies In Accident

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Auburn for Samuel Douglas Gray, 2-year-old son of City Planner Robert Gray, who died Saturday night when he fell from his parents' car onto an East Bay freeway.

The accident occurred after dark, as the family was returning to its home at 363 Hedge road from a dinner with relatives in Berkeley. At least two cars struck the tot after he fell from the car, according to officers of the highway patrol.

In the car at the time were Mr. and Mrs. Gray and Samuel's two sisters and brother, Kenneth, 4.

The two boys started wrestling in the back seat and Gray began turning out of the freeway's fast lane into the slow lane, in order to quiet them down, when a door flew open and the baby fell to the pavement.

The door had an auxiliary safety latch to prevent such accidents, the highway patrol said, but it apparently failed to hold.

In addition to his immediate family, the boy is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray of King's Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson of Auburn.

Services were held at the chapel of the flowers.

The boy's father, 33, served as city planner for Auburn before being appointed here last March.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Alice Boss

Christian Science services were held here Monday for Mrs. Alice M. Boss, who passed away at a local rest home Saturday at the age of 83.

Mrs. Boss had made her home in the area for the past five years, residing with a daughter, Mrs. Andrew M. Larry Jr. of 90 Parker avenue in Atherton before entering the rest home.

Besides her daughter here, she is survived by a son, Marcellus Boss of Columbus, Kans., a nephew, Joseph Wright of Laguna Beach and two grandchildren, Michael and Belinda Larry of Atherton.

The rites were read by Allan Clark.

Remains were sent to Columbus, Kans., for interment.

LDS Church Schedules Carnival

The Menlo Park Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) will hold its annual winter carnival Saturday, Dec. 3, in the recreation hall of the new chapel, 1105 Valparaiso avenue.

The affair begins at 5:30 p.m. and is open to the general public, Bishop Keith E. Garner announces.

Parents are encouraged to come early and bring the children. Dinner will be served throughout the evening.

Special activities for the children will include a fish pond with prizes of all kinds. A magician will be on hand to entertain. Refreshments will include hot dogs, ice cream, cotton candy, popcorn and home-made candy. A cake sale also will be held during the evening.

Funds raised through this project will go to the new chapel building fund.

Students Head For Retreat

Two Foothill College students from Menlo Park are among 14 who, along with three of the college's faculty members, Dec. 2 and 3 will attend a retreat at Jones' Gulch.

Topic of the retreat will be, "What is Your Frame of Reference?"

The two local students attending will be William Johnston Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston of 1725 Poppy avenue and Patrick Mundell, son of James Mundell of 34 Willow road.

To prepare for the retreat, students were advised to read from a selected list of books, ranging from the works of Albert Einstein to those of Ogden.

35 Scout Units Get Recognition

Thirty-five Boy Scout units received recognition recently for 100 per cent subscription to "Boys' Life," national magazine of the Boy Scouts of America.

The units so recognized included nine Cub Scout packs, 21 Boy Scout troops, and five Explorer Scout posts, all situated in the Live Oak District. The latter includes Menlo Park, Atherton, Woodside, East Palo Alto and Portola Valley.

Recognition was given at a recent awards dinner of the district, held at Hillview School.

Cub packs cited included 37, 59, 64, 102, 114, 118, 163, 206 and 207.

Scout troops recognized included 102, 103, 107, 109, 118, 139, 151, 163, 166, 198, 204, 205, 206, 212, 214, 2-5, 222, 223, 234, and 333.

Explorer posts with the top possible subscription rate included 163, 198, 204, 205 and 212.

Community Christmas Bureau Opens Doors in SM Today

The Community Christmas Bureau of San Mateo County will officially launch its 1960 drive for the needy when for the seventh consecutive year it opens its doors today at its usual headquarters in the Naval Reserve Training Center, ground floor, Baldwin avenue and San Mateo drive, San Mateo.

Serving as a clearing house, as well as a referral agency, the bureau also coordinates the Christmas efforts of groups, individuals, and welfare agencies. It is headed this year by Mrs. Arthur Wall, assisted by Mrs. Jack Naud.

Focused on the Christmas needs of families and separate persons who are known to the welfare agenciec, the bureau is staffed by volunteers recruited by the San Mateo County Volunteer Bureau, which is issuing a call for more workers to assist in the expected rush in the Naval Reserve Center headquarters.

All those interested are asked to call the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose road, Burlingame, DI 2-0801.

The Community Christmas Bureau was founded by Adrian Ward of Menlo Park, now retired, formerly the director of welfare for San Mateo county.

Contributions of cash or merchandise may be brought directly to Christmas Bureau headquarters, or sent addressed: The Community Christmas Bureau, P.O. Box 109, San Mateo.

The Bureau will remain open Monday through Friday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Thursday evenings, Dec. 8 and 15, until 8:30 p.m. and on Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

South County Residents Get Citizenship

Thirteen South County residents became citizens of the United States Friday in ceremonies conducted last Friday before Superior Court Judge Aylett R. Cotton.

The 13 were members of a class of 71 which, a search of the records showed, was the largest group ever to be inducted into citizenship at one time, in San Mateo county.

The locals were:

East Palo Alto — Fred D. Corazon and Lolita Matias, 1339 Camellia drive (Filipino).

Menlo Park — Ursula Marie Friedrich, 22 Coleman place (German); Mary and Marcelino Pacheco, 4320 Fair Oaks avenue (Mexican); Josephine and John Kachmarek, 1015 Florence lane (Polish); Anthony Tsuchien Tu, 202-13 Stanford Village (Chinese); Selma Brooks, 112 Dunsmuir way (Canadian); Lilly Tsune Kroeger, 790 San Benito avenue (Japanese); Adele Pollano, 64 Callie lane (Italian).

Atherton—Anna Magdalena Huber, 55 Serrano drive (Swiss).

Woodside — John Waldherr, Jr., Star Route Box 52 (stateless, formerly Hungary).

Troops Get High Rating

Eight Live Oak District Scout troops, membership of which includes at least 40 per cent First Class Scouts, recently received citations for that achievement.

Scene of the presentation was the annual awards dinner of adult leaders of the Live Oak District.

Units honored included Troops 102, 107, 109, 151, 159, 163, 215 and 222.

SAN DIEGO (Special)—Barry R. Schnittger, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Schnittger of 928 Peggy lane, Menlo Park, graduated from recruit training on Nov. 18 at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Hiller Air To Join Autolite

Stanley Hiller Jr. announced that shareholders of Hiller Aircraft Corporation last week approved plans to make the company a subsidiary of the Electric Autolite Company of Toledo, Ohio.

The action, which took place at a special shareholders meeting at the Hiller plant, calls for 4¼ shares of Hiller to be exchanged for one share of the auto and aircraft parts firm. Electric Autolite shareholders approved the plan at a special meeting recently.

Robert H. Davies, president of Electric Autolite, announced during the meeting that Stanley Hiller Jr. will continue as president of Hiller Aircraft and will also become a director of the Electric Autolite Company.

Mr. Davies said, "Stanley Hiller and his associates have done an outstanding job in building Hiller Aircraft Corporation. It is a source of great satisfaction to us that he will continue to head this operation. We also believe that with Autolite support he and his organization will be able to take full advantage of the major growth that is developing for helicopters and vertical takeoff (VTOL) aircraft. We look forward to furthering the growth of this operation in Palo Alto."

Stanley Hiller will have the largest individual holding in the combined corporation with almost 2 per cent of Autolite stock. The present 5,200 Hiller stockholders, many of whom live in this area, will hold 8½ per cent of all Autolite stock.

17 Lawyers 'Interested' In City Job

Menlo Park city fathers proceeded this week with the job of lining up a new city attorney to replace Superior Court Judge-elect James T. O'Keefe.

City Councilmen are shooting for announcement of the appointment at their Tuesday, Dec. 13, meeting, City Manager John R. Johnson said.

At a personnel meeting Tuesday night, they discussed qualifications and background of 17 applicants, Johnson said.

If more applications arrive before next Tuesday's study meeting, they will hold a second personnel session to consider them. Tuesday will be the application deadline, however.

Councilmen have not yet indicated if they will set a meeting to personally meet with and screen candidates, Johnson said.

Bike Safety Day Set for Saturday

A Bike Safety Day and Rodeo will be held this Saturday at Burgess Park at 10 a.m., co-sponsored by Menlo Park police and Recreation Departments.

Bicycle skill contests will be featured, along with movies on bicycle safety. Awards will be given to youngsters for outstanding performances in the skills competition.

Bicycle safety checks also will be given to all bikes.

Contests will include bicycle decoration, a slalom race, circling, riding a plank, zigzag, polo, figure eight and hit the target.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Recreation Department, DA 5-3211, ext. 5, 6 or 18.

'Experiment':

New School Calendar Plan Seen as 'Interesting' Here

School District Superintendent Dr. Mel Homfeld here this week hailed as "a very interesting experiment" a proposal to open school one week early next year.

The proposal, worked out by the coordinating council of the Menlo Park District's PTAs, calls for opening school immediately after Labor Day, rather than one week later. This would allow vacations of one week after five, seven-week or eight-week terms into which the school year of 1961-62 would be divided.

The idea will be discussed by school district trustees, meeting next Tuesday.

Dr. Homfeld said he thought the experiment should be tried here, if not elsewhere. He said he felt it would be useful in "decreasing the pressures" on both teachers and pupils, who sometimes face long periods without vacations or holidays.

This is particularly true in those years when Easter comes early, Dr. Homfeld continued.

The district's teachers have discussed the matter, too, the superintendent went on, but so far have come up with no collective opinion.

"Some teachers in the lower grades have expressed themselves, as individuals, to the belief that there might be some retrogression in learning if a vacation is called only seven weeks after the start of school," Homfeld explained.

Teachers who have children of their own and who reside in other districts might find their children's schedules and their own don't correspond well either, he said.

Under the system as suggested by the PTA group, school would end, in 1962, on June 14. This is the traditional time.

Next Tuesday night's board meeting commences at 8 p.m. at school district headquarters, 555 Glenwood avenue.

J. V. Thompson To Be Ordained In Sunday Rites

Evening worship services at the Menlo Park First Baptist Church Sunday will feature the ordination of J. Vern Thompson, the church's minister of Christian education, as a Baptist minister.

The ceremonies climax three years during which Thompson who has been a full-time member of the church staff, has been attending the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School in addition to fulfilling his duties here.

Thompson, 38, is in charge of youth group organization at the church as well as in its educational programs. He is also in charge of the four choirs which the church has.

The ceremonies in which he will be ordained will commence at 7 p.m. with the church pastor, the Rev. Luther Plankenhorn, Dr. W. Earle Smith ,the Rev. Lynn Hodges, and a representative of the Divinity school taking part.

They will be followed by a social hour in the church parlor.

Thompson resides with his wife and two children at 232 Willow road.

Student Wins Chess Battle

Edgar N. "Al" Bogas, junior at Stanford University and a resident at 3160 Bay road in North Fair Oaks, last week was one of two students from Stanford to beat George Koltanowski, San Francisco chess master, in a tournament sponsored by the Palo Alto Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Bogas is the son of Herman Bogas, county adult probation officer.

Koltanowski played 29 men simultaneously during the tourney.

The tournament was sponsored in connection with an exhibit, "Chess through the Ages," now at the Stanford museum on the campus.

High Notice Given Scouters

Six adult leaders of Scout units here recently received recognition for their work in behalf of the units at a recognition dinner for Live Oak District Scout leaders.

Receiving the second-highest award such leaders can achieve were three men: Art Ogilvie, leader of Explorer Post 205; Floyd Beach ,the district's "senior Scout" and Scoutmaster of Troop 107, and Bill Cooks, district commissioner.

A Scouter Training Award was presented to Bill Richardson.

Brad Vermillion of Explorer Post 212 and Ray Cochrane of Explorer Post 118 received certificates of appreciation.

'Town Hall' Unit Speaker Named

A. O. Lefors of the California Taxpayers Association tonight will address the Town Hall Association of San Mateo county, as that group meets at the council chambers in the San Mateo city hall.

C. Julian Wheeler of Menlo Park, president of the association, explains that the organization is scheduling meetings in several cities, in order to get a county-wide membership. The group was formed last year in Menlo Park and for a time had a largely local membership.

Lefors will discuss "The Need for Citizen - Participation in Taxpayers' Organizations."

As Panel Topic 'Homework' Set

The educational philosophy behind "homework" will be the topic of the Menlo Park School District trustees' discussion next Teusday night, as a part of their Dec. 6 reuglar meeting.

The discussion will be one of a series which is continuing through the year, concerned with various phases of the philosophy of education.

The discussions feature expressions of opinion on the various topics by members of the district's board of trustees and teh administration, and usually take about 45 minutes

CHURCH of CHRIST
CARL C. COLLIER, Minister

Every church has a special distinction. Church (Gr. EKKLASIA—"Called out") may refer to any assembly; social, political, or religious (Acts 19:32, 39, 41).

The church of Christ refers to believers called out of sin and "Baptized (immersed) into Christ Jesus." Mark 16:16; John 3:5; Rom. 6:3-5.

To obey 99 per cent Bible and 1 per cent opinion one will be called into a group as distinguished by the 1 per cent. The large per cent truth taught may easily hide the 1 per cent change and account for the religious division.

Faith, love, and character are required by Christ and beautifully taught by many groups; however, to become a child of God, Jesus adds that baptism (immersion) is essential. Rom. 6:3-5; Col. 2:12; Acts 8:37.

Sprinkling is not Bible baptism. God has authorized NO MAN to baptize an unbeliever (infant or otherwise) or substitute sprinkling for baptism (immersion) Mark 7:7; Matt. 7:21.

To be a child of God one must obey Christ rather than men.

Women Voters League Sets Meeting on 'Education' Topic

The League of Women Voters of Menlo Park, in connection with its current study of administrative and educational problems of the elementary and high school districts in south San Mateo county—with special attention to the role of the elective officials — has scheduled a public meeting for Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m., in the Menlo Park city council chambers.

A guest panel of outstanding educators will discuss "The Role of the Voter in Current Education Issues."

Two upcoming elections involving voter decisions in regard to educational problems make this meeting timely. On Dec. 13, a special election will be held with reference to the annexation of the Sequoia Union High School District to the San Mateo Junior College District. On Jan. 31, 1961, a special election is necessitated by the expiration of the present Permissive Tax rate.

Participating in the Dec. 7 panel will be Dr. Lawrence Thomas of Stanford, whose teaching field is "philosophy of education." He also has a wide background of curriculum-advisory and publication experience; Dr. Russell Kent ,assistant superintendent of the Hillsborough Elementary School District, who also teaches in the field of school administration at San Jose State College. The third panelist will be Dr. Karl Spangenberg, member of the Palo Alto school board.

The meeting will be moderated by Mrs. Myron Alexander, chairman of the Menlo Park League's education study.

Cop Killer Suspect's Plea Remains

Entry of a plea of guilty by Ralph Ruiz, 25, suspected in the murder of Menlo Park police officer John Lyle Sept. 22, won't influence the charges against Ray H. Lane, 22, who actually killed the officer in a gun battle here.

This was the opinion this week of District Attorney Keith Sorenson, who added that the two men are to appear for trial Jan. 9.

Lane has entered a plea of "not guilty." He hasn't specified the grounds for his plea as yet, however, Sorenson declared.

Attorney William Scammon, representing Ruiz, said that he and representatives of the district attorney's office have agreed that the Oakdale dairy hand should get life imprisonment for his part in the slaying of the officer.

Besides jail for his part in the killing here, Ruiz faces possible future sentences for four armed robberies which, according to police, he has admitted since his arrest.

Another factor leading to Ruiz' decision to enter a "guilty" plea, his attorney went on, was the consideration that a recent motion for a separate trial was denied by presiding Superior Court Judge Aylett R. Cotton.

Ruiz was driving a second vehicle at the time of the shooting when, according to the suspects, Lane drove into the parking lot of Drager's market, 1010 University drive, to "unload" a car stolen earlier that afternoon.

Lyle appeared on the scene and apparently was attempting to "check out" the vehicle when the shooting started.

Ruiz drove off, but later was apprehended by Menlo Park police, at his San Joaquin Valley home.

Stanford Hires Area Architect

Plans to increase the size of the Stanford University Press were announced today by University planning officials.

The board of trustees has approved the appointment of architect Hervey Parke Clark of Woodside and San Francisco to draw the plans and specifications.

The new project will consist of two 10,000-square-foot additions to the existing Press building at Panama and Lomita streets — a bindery and a book storage warehouse.

Clark was the architect of Bowman Alumni House, which was dedicated in May 1952.

Scout Units Cited For Camping

Eleven Scout troops and one Explorer Scout post recently were awarded national camping awards, as the result of having had 50 per cent or more of their membership spend a minimum of 10 days camping during the year.

The awards were presented at the annual recognition dinner of the Live Oak District, Boy Scouts of America.

Troops cited were 103, 107, 108, 109, 118, 151, 163, 166, 205, 212 and 222. The Explorer post earning the award was 205.

Bank Promotes Menlo Park Man

George V. Bagley has been promoted to assistant cashier at the San Carlos office of Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Co., it was announced today by Henry M. Nissen, assistant vice-president and manager.

A native of Oregon, Bagley attended the Northwestern College of Law in Portland and was associated with the U.S. National Bank of Portland for 12 years. He joined Wells Fargo American Trust in 1958 and was assigned to San Carlos the following year.

The banker and his wife, Ivy, have two children, Sandra, 15, and Warren, 9. They reside at 919 Fremont place in Menlo Park.

In recognition . . .

. . . of his long years of service to the steamship industry, Gene Hofiman, American President Lines' vice-president, recently received the annual "brass hat" award of the Propeller club of the United States, Port of San Francisco. The presentation was made by George Killion (left), president, American President Lines, a former brass hat winner himself, at the annual Old-Timers Day luncheon of the club. Mr. Hoffman has been director of steamship public relations for the past 30 years, the last 27 with American President Lines and the first three with Matson Lines. He resides in Menlo Park, Calif.

'Safeway' Exec Gets New Position

Louis A. Bianco, long-time staff consultant at the retail operating division of Safeway Stores in San Francisco, has been promoted to manage Safeway's newly - created North Peninsula Retail District on Jan. 1.

Vice President Quentin Reynolds, manager of the company's San Francisco division, disclosed the promotion of Bianco, who resides at 6 East Creek place, Menlo Park, in a recent announcement.

Plans for the building of between 25 and 30 new stores next year have made necessary the remapping of Safeway's retail districts in the western half of Northern California, Reynolds said, resulting in the creation of two new districts, one in central Contra Costa County and the other which will be a responsibility held by Bianco.

The Menlo Park man began his Safeway career in 1928 when he was first employed by a Safeway predecessor company in Oakland. Still later he was promoted to the position of office manager of Safeway's Portland division and returned to San Francisco in 1950 to serve as division consultant to Reynolds.

Before Town Council:

Encinal PTA Leader Requests Rec Program from Atherton

A full-time professional recreation director is needed at Encinal School during the summer months, Encinal PTA President Mrs. Frank Merrill told the Atherton town council at its monthly meeting Monday night.

This call for a professional "program coordinator," Mrs. Merrill said, was made necessary because there are too many children attending the Encinal program for the volunteer supervisors to handle.

The tremendous interest in the crafts classes especially, left "no alternative" but to call for professional help, Mrs. Merrill went on.

The Menlo Park School District has been conducting crafts classes at Encinal one hour per week during the summer, but that isn't enough, Mrs. Merrill asserted. "Our children have had to go down to Palo Alto Community Center for crafts. It's terribly expensive, that's why the Menlo Park Recreation Department holds it down, but it's very popular and we need more."

The councilmen were hesitant at the $400 a year figure Mrs. Merrill stated would be needed to pay the salary of the professional coordinator, wondering if maybe Selby and Las Lomitas schools shouldn't be brought into the scheme too, if the town is to do more financing of the playground program at Encinal.

Councilman R. C. Van Houten wondered if maybe the town wouldn't be getting into the educational end of these crafts and possibly paying into the school's program. Mrs. Merrill answered that these were hobby, not educational classes, and as such had no connection with the school curriculum.

Mayor Henry Kuechler had forebodings about a mixup of jurisdiction. Councilman Nathan Most noted that maybe if all three schools formed one district, such aid by the town may be feasible.

The PTA would handle it themselves, Mrs. Merrill said, but are thwarted by their constitution, which forbids a balance of more than $50 in the unit's treasury by the end of each school year. This means they have to spend it before summertime, if there is an excess, leaving them with the old problem of trying to run the summer program with a volunteer supervisors — never the same one twice—in charge.

There is no trouble with the sports program, Mrs. Merrill added, since it requires less supervision.

The council voted $600 last year to each of the three schools to help defray the costs of their summer programs. This $400 would be in addition to that.

Mayor Kuechler said that "We'll go into deep thought on the matter and let you know by the first of the year."

Fiscal Policy Slated:

SMJC Tax Holds At Limit

(This is the third in a series of articles presented by the College of San Mateo in relation to the Tuesday, Dec. 13, election in the Sequoia Union High School District on annexation to the junior college district.)

"How efficient is the financial management?"

This is the question which should be asked by any prospective investor in an educational enterprise.

In this instance, the tax rate, other sources of income, average unit cost of education, accumulation of reserves, and total planning in the San Mateo Junior College District should be analyzed by citizens of the Sequoia District.

First, the San Mateo Junior College District continues to operate on the basic 35 cent tax rate, the only district in San Mateo County still able to function within its statutory tax ceiling.

The 1960-61 tax rate includes the basic 35 cents, plus contributions to the retirement fund. Because of two special circumstances, this year's tax rate is exceptional, for it includes the first-year bond service fund and the one-year 3-cent tax levied for community services for the College Heights site project above Belmont.

Through frugality and successful district management, it has been possible for the San Mateo District to finance an outstanding educational program, to accumulate reserves for building purposes, and to hold the 1957 bond issue for new facilities to $5,900,000.

Operating costs for the educational program are a useful measure of the San Mateo Junior College District financial policy. In 1958-59, the cost per unit of average daily attendance was $536. In 1959-60, the unit cost dropped to $529.

In both years, the figure was lower than that of any of the public high school in San Mateo County (and significantly less than the $874 unit cost at Foothill College.

Figures for general fund operating income and expenditures for 1959-60 also give a clear picture of financial responsibility and programming for future needs.

The operating income for 1959-60 totalled $2,659,592, approximately half of which came from San Mateo Junior College District taxes. The out-of-district tuition refunds accounted for nearly a fourth of income, as did the state apportionments. Federal funds, largely through National Defense Education Act grants, combined with other minor income to make the total.

But on the expenditure side of the ledger, this total was $2,345,569, with almost three-fourths of the total budget devoted to costs of instruction. The difference between general fund operating income and expenditures was added to reserves for building purposes. In all, the sum of $708,184 was added to these reserves in 1959-1960.

Clear distinction can be made between operating funds and reserves which are to be used to finance the building program.

As of June, 1960, the District had already expended from reserves a total of $2,919,539 to finance the purchase and development to date of the College Heights site and to acquire a north county site. The 1960-61 budget provides for building purposes an additional $621,591 in the general fund and a special reserve of $1,790,702.

By good management, the district will have devoted $5,332,032 of reserves to capital outlay purposes by the end of June, 1961. Not included in this figure are funds from bonds and sale of properties.

The sale in August of this year of the $5,900,000 in bonds is an example of the continuing district financial policy and of citizens concern for sound operation. The bid of 3.30953 per cent compares very favorably with that obtained by the State of California and was largely achieved by the wise counsel of bond specialists, all local taxpayers.

Although difficult to calculate, the interest figure will mean a saving of several hundred thousands of dollars to the district taxpayers.

Such sound operation is not mere happenstance. It is the result of constant concern for the quality of education balanced with the cost of operation.

And it is a factor worth full consideration of the citizen who seeks a solution to the problem of post-high school educational needs.

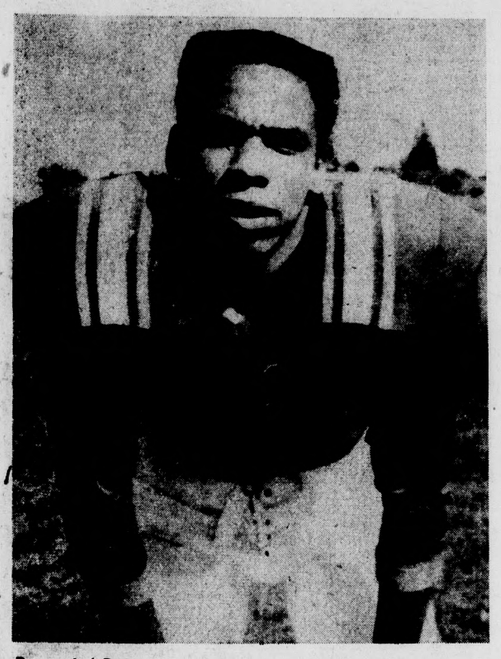
Askew Is First-Ever Trojan on All-SPAL 1st Unit



Rompin' Ray . . .

. . . Here's Ray Askew, the shifty, speedy Ravenswood High halfback named to the All-SPAL first team this week. Askew gained 187 yards in a great performance against Woodside to win league rushing honors as well.

—Ravenswood Post photo

And Hard-Charging Bill . . .

. . . The steadiest performer in the Menlo-Atherton line this year was 160-pound senior Bill Summers, who received honorable mention in the all-SPAL balloting last week. Summers was a guard on offense and linebacker on defense, also being named the Bears' Most Valuable Player and one of the co-captains at season's end.

—Recorder photo

Honorable Mention: Summers, Thurston

Ray Askew, a small package of football dynamite, was named Ravenswood High's first-ever representative on the all-South Peninsula Athletic League varsity football first team in voting by area sportswirters Saturday.

The great honor went to a halfback who stands 5-4, weighs 135 pounds and who played for a team that won just one game all season.

Despite these handicaps, Askew emerged as the South Peninsula Athletic League's top groundgainer—a tribute to his speed, elusiveness and intestinal fortitude.

Ray and his Ravenswood High teammates ended the season on the highest of notes when they defeated arch-rival Woodside High 12-7 last week.

He piled up 187 yards and completed two of six passes to lead the attack by Coach Howard Costello's troops. Ray wound up with a total of 471 yards for the season, jumping from sixth to first place in total yardage.

But Askew was only a small pebble in the stream of SPAL champion Sequoia Cherokees that dominated the selections. Five were named to each of the first and second units. Hulking center Rich Koeper took Player of the Year honors, as expected by almost everybody.

His coach, genial Joe Marvin, made a repeat performance as Coach of the Year. Marvin's three-year record at Sequoia is now 26-2. He hasn't been beaten since Nov. 21, 1958, a non-league loss to Serra.

Woodside, as last year, placed an end in the balloting, with 185-pound junior end Gary Thurston getting an honorable mention.

Thurston was third in pass receiving in league play this season, accepting 18 passes for 198 yards and two touchdowns. One of the TD's was against Sequoia, the only score other than Palo Alto's lone touchdown pulled off against the Tribe. Thurston also was a stickout defensively.

And where is Menlo-Atherton in all this? Well, for the first time since who knows when, the Bears failed to place anyone on the first team — or the second. Stellar guard Bill Summers, a 160-pound senior who went on both offense and defense, was selected as an honorable mention, having been considered in voting for the first two squads.

Summers was a line standout in an otherwise bleak M-A season, playing guard on offense and doing his best work as a defensive linebacker.

With so many top-flight backs around, the choice was tough, but it was made. Junior quarterback Jon Cretarolo of Palo Alto and Sequoia's fine senior tailback Ted Sweeting made it on the first ballot. Cretarolo was the league leader in passing and total offense, completing 47 of 87 pass attempts for 678 yards and adding 60 yards rushing for a 738 total.

Sweeting was one of a fine corps of Cherokee backs, finishing fifth in passing with 16-for-41 and 241 yards, tenth in rushing with 241 yards and a 4.8 average per carry and fourth in total offense with 482 yards.

Askew made it on the third ballot, drawing some speculation as to what the speedy mite would have done had he been with a stronger team than the small, outmanned Trojans.

The first unit backfield was rounded out by Sequoia's Clarence Hamel, small and quick like Askew, named on the fifth ballot. Hamel was the man who often picked up the "must have" yardage with his wide end sweeps behind the potent Tribe single-wing blocking.

Indicative of the paucity of linemen under consideration, all four unanimous choices were on the first unit forward wall. Koeper was selected by acclaim, making a sweep of three straight all-SPAL first string spots for his prep varsity career. He also was the second Cherokee in succession to get Player of the Year honors, succeeding 1959 tailback Rich Trammell in that capacity.

Teammate Bob Svihus, a 220-pound senior, was one, with Palo Alto end Harry Kellogg and tackle Craig Bell capturing the other two. Kellogg led the SPAL in pass receiving with 20 catches for 234 yards.

The other end was Cubberley's Bruce Bellandi, the only Cougar on the first team, who was second in league pass receiving with 18 receptions but leading in total yardage with 272.

Sequoia and Paly grabbed the other two starting line spots, Sequoia's mammoth 230-pound Kurt Johnson at tackle and Palo Alto's tough Paul Lerch at guard.

This is a much heavier first string line than last year's all-SPAL wall, averaging 206.9 to 186.0 last season.

Sequoia and Palo Alto dominated the second unit as completely as the first. The only dents were by Carlmont tackle Alf Haerem and fullback Harlan Halvorson and Cubberley's all-SPAL triple-threat of last season, quarterback Don Castle.

Castle missed almost two complete games with a severe shoulder injury, otherwise he had a very good chance of repeating his 1959 selection to the starting club. Even at that, he was second in passing with 37 for 89 and 425 yards, eighth in rushing with 281 yards and a 6.0 average and second in total offence with 706 yards, just 32 behind Cretarolo.

Sequoia fullback Mike Otis repeated as a second-teamer. He was one of the short-yardage bread-and-butter men of Marvin's smorgasbord of fast, hard and tricky runners.

He was joined by blocking back Park Wray, a prime example of what a single-wing play-caller on offense and end on defense should be. End Larry Bishop and guards Bill Buckley and Rich Scopel also got on for the Tribe, all turning in unexpectedly fine shows in the Cherokees' second straight undefeated season.

Palo Alto was represented by end Ron Holmes, an honorable mention last year, tackle John Twelvetrees and center Charlie Haid.

Last year the local area teams were considerably better represented, with M-A's guard Doug Christie on the first squad and halfback Hugh Smith getting honorable mention.

Woodside had Bill Jankord at one second-team end and Ravenswood placed Earl Johnson at the other.

Other honorable mentions this year were Palo Alto halfbacks Steve Adams and Jerry Greven and Cubberley halfback Kent Weber.

38th YEAR—No. 48 THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1960

By JOHN CURRY Sports Editor

We Did It and We're Glad

The life of a sportswriter can be a harrowing one, especially when several of them get together and take it upon themselves to make a little original news of their own.

As you can see by this page, we bannered our most newsworthy effort so far this school year, ready for the worst but hoping for the best.

★ ★ ★ ★

Taking our lives in our hands this time was a fairly smooth, painless experience. No violent arguments, thrown objects or broken chairs or anything like that.

There was a great abundance of No. 1 backfielders, so we naturally don't expect that we made everybody happy, but we sure did our best. Because there were so many good backs doing good things on the field, it follows that there was a dip in the number of linemen up for consideration. They were a little easier to select, while the balloting went on and on for the backfielders.

★ ★ ★ ★

It's too bad the all-SPALers can't be pitted against an all-league team from an adjacent area. We think this one would acquit itself very well.

★ ★ ★ ★

It Came to Pass . . .

Just as the sports editor expected all along, he staged a last-minute coup to win this year's Recorder Pigskin Panel prognostication title, unseating co-champion Woody Carlton, who held the undisputed crown in 1958 and tied for it last year.

★ ★ ★ ★

The sports editor stuck with Cubberley despite an overwhelming preference for Menlo-Atherton in their season-closer last week, thereby edging out adman Dave Morin, 45 right, eight wrong, one tie and an .851 percentage, to 44-9-1 and .833.

Woody, editor Roger Freeberg and the backshop experts tied for third at 41-12-1 and .775. Next down the line were society editor Mardell Burns (40-13-1), .755), adman John Canali and the circulation experts (39-14-1, .737), Ravenswood post editor Dave Goodwin (38-15-1, .717), reporter Bob Jones (37-16-1), .699), ad manager Bill Neylan (36-17-1, .680), and publisher Cab Burley (23-30-1, .434).

Cab considered it his duty to stick with the local clubs. The result was that only Menlo School and the 49ers came up winners for him most of the time.

★ ★ ★ ★

Anyway, it was lots of fun, kept the office in an uproar, ringing plenty of comments and advice from coaches, players, customers and clients. The sports editor expects to repeat the performance next year.

Bear Cagers Deep In Size and Experience

While football gear goes hither and yon into storage at Menlo-Atherton High, varsity basketball coach Bill Loftus is getting his sporting equipment out and issued with an eye toward opening the 1960-61 basketball season tomorrow night.

The big, talented and experienced Bears will hold their camera day in the gym tomorrow afternoon and then along about 8:15 will get down to the business of trying to knock off visiting Hillsdale in their traditional season opener.

Coach Lee Megginson's Bear B team starts things off at 7 p.m. against the Knight B's, also looking for a win but with only five days of practice behind them.

The Bear varsity nipped coach Homer Zugelder's Knights in their debut last year 44-40, but the B's lost 32-30. The Bruin varsity went on to chalk up a highly successful 21-5 season record and 12-2 in the South Peninsula Athletic League, good for second place behind Palo Alto.

The situation looks even rosier this year for the Bears, who'll field the biggest team in M-A history, strong on the boards as well as the deadliest outside shooting they've ever had, even better than in Bobby Wendell's days, according to Loftus.

"The only two ingredients we're not sure of is attitude and desire, but we went a long way on those alone last year," Loftus went on.

To back up this claim from a man who rarely allows himself the luxury of exuberance, only one of the Bears, senior guard Mike Quirk at 5'7 is the only one on the squad below six feet. The Bruins are neck-deep in veterans and graduates from last year's good B team.

Loftus' probable starters tomorrow include, at forwards, 6'6½ senior Bob Garner, tougher than ever on the boards and still growing; 6'3 junior Bill Wright, younger brother of all-SPALer Rick Wright who was one of only two full-time starters graduated this year; at guards, 6'0 senior Norm MacKay and 6'1½ senior Gene Sullivan or Quirk; center, 6'1 senior Larry Kennedy.

Just in from football are 6'1½ senior guard Jim Cheatham and 6'3 sophomore center Pete Klein. Cheatham is still rounding into shape, after which he's expected to break into the starting lineup.

That good outside shooting comes from MacKay, a "tremendous" shooter. Quirk will handle much of the floor work but is still getting used to the M-A system after transferring from Sequoia last year.

Zugelder said his Knights were inexperienced and figured M-A would be "one of the best teams we'll face all season." His best rebounder, Randy Bowles, is out with an infected ingrown toenail. Other than that, his tallest is 6'2½ center Terry McQuarrie. The Knights had a 14-14 season record last year.

McCormack, Stevens Lead Final Acorn Statistics

Again this year, senior quarterback Butch McCormack led the Menlo School Acorns in total offense—picking up the majority of it himself with his passing and running.

The Bay Counties Athletic League's Back of the Year accounted for 1048 of the Acorns' 1861 yards total, 717 of it passing and 331 running. Loss of his top-flight receivers kept him from reaching his phenomenal 1959 passing total of 1004 yards, though.

All-BCAL halfback Tom Stevens led the league champion Acorns with 533 yards in 86 carries on the ground, a 6.2 average per carry. But Stevens still fell short of Bob Ellis' 616 record total of last year.

Stevens also led the pack in pass receiving with 421 yards on 28 receptions and in scoring, with 10 touchdowns and one conversion point for a 61 total.

McCormack threw for nine TD's among his 50 completions in 117 attempts. He also was second in total personal scoring, carrying over four touchdowns and nine conversions.

4 Acorns Make All-BCAL Squads

TOM CRARY
. . . Lineman of the Year

BUTCH McCORMACK
. . . Back of the Year

TOM STEVENS
. . . 1st Stringer

TIM HOGAN
. . . On 2nd Team

Menlo School's Bay Counties Athletic League champion Acorns placed three on the all-league first string team, one on the second and grabbed both most valuable awards, after voting by the league coaches.

Senior quarterback Butch McCormack of Stockton, repeating and enlarging on his all-BCAL ranking of last year, was named the league's most valuable back. Senior Tom Crary, a 200-pound center and linebacker from Woodside, got the most valuable lineman vote.

Halfback-end Tom Stevens, a 200-pounder from Balboa, also was selected to the first team.

Tim Hogan, 190-pound senior from Mill Valley, was Menlo's representative on the second unit.

The other first-stringers: Fred Zatkoff (San Rafael Military Academy) hb, Duane Brown (St. Vincent's) fb, Steve Gantner (Lick-Wilmerding) and Bob Davis (Emery) ends, Joe Heinz (SRMA) and Bruce Donoghue (L-W) tackles, Jim Baratte (St. V.) and Bob Wyler (L-W) guards.

The Acorns won their second straight BCAL title with a 6-0 league record this year. Lick was second at 4-2.

Wildcats Get 'Booted' By Trojans, 12-7

. . . Mike (Peanuts) Phelan sprinted into the end zone from two yards out with the touchdown last week that gave Ravenswood its first varsity football victory in two years of competition. The Trojans whipped Woodside 12-7. Jim Smith (88) is the Trojan in foreground about to leap into the air as Phelan scored. Will Atkinson (75) is the Woodside player in view. In background at right are Ravenswood fans, who went wild at this point.

Hustling halfback Ray Askew ran for 187 yards, earning himself the South Peninsula Athletic League rushing crown and the "Old Boot" remains at Woodside for another year in Ravenswood's mild but hard-fought 12-7 upset of the Wildcats at the Woodside field last Wednesday.

The only other significant development in the battle of the SPAL bottom-rungers was that coach Howard Costello's rambuctious little Trojans got out of the cellar with a final 1-5 league mark, leaving the Wildcats in sole possession at 0-6.

The "Old Boot," an old football shoe, is a symbol of the three-year rivalry between the schools, which must remain in the trophy case of the losing school until their team is victorious. It's Woodside's officially now, the two clubs having tied 13-13 last year.

Askew carried the ball for an average of 5.6 yards and handled the pigskin 33 times, more than the rest of the Wildcat backs combined.

Fine game efforts were also turned in by Jim Tabor, by Guy Funabiki, by Jim Sossaman, by Jim Smith, by Prince and by Manuel Delacruz.

But it wasn't all Askew. A great team effort made his performance possible. And it was Mike (Peanuts) Phelan — like Askew, playing in his final game—who scored the winning touchdown.

It was Ravenswood's first victory in two years of SPAL competition. Woodside has yet to win one.

Woodside's Dick Burke turned in a scintillating punt runback to put the 'Cats on the scoreboard early in the second period. After a scoreless first quarter in which the teams exchanged punts, Smith booted a beauty which Burke accepted on his own 35. Slipping an initial tackle attempt, he raced down the left sideline "alley" set up by his teammates' blocking and scored. The conversion kick by Dave Nelson was good for a 7-0 lead.

Ravenswood came storming back on the next series of plays. Askew gathered in the pigskin on the kickoff, returned it to the 41, and proceeded to carry the ball seven times in the next eight plays.

Included were runs of 15, 11, 9 and 7 yards—plus his final four yard burst over the goal line. Askew was stopped on the conversion run. The score at halftime was 7-6, but the tide had turned.

After the half, it was all Ravenswood. One Trojan threat carried them to the nine after recovering a Woodside fumble in the third quarter. But Askew fumbled at that point with Cubby Welch recovering.

The Trojans weren't to be halted, however. They stopped Woodside on the next series and took over on the Woodside 48 after a punt rolled dead there.

As the quarter ended, Ravenswood was driving. Askew passed to Phelan for 11 and then gained 10 around end. The Trojans ground it out from there with Phelan's pass to Delacruz good for 12 and Askew taking the next four consecutive handoffs. With the aid of a penalty, the ball was pushed to the four.

Welch intercepted Phelan's short pass in the end zone and sprinted to midfield — but a pair of penalties against Woodside nullified his fine run. With a first down on the two, Phelan rolled to the right and scampered across the goal for the go-ahead score.

The conversion run again was halted.

Woodside had the ball for just four downs after the kickoff before Delacruz pounced on a fumble near midfield. Ravenswood threatened again after a good drive, but Woodside held on the three yeard line.

Ravenswood was knocking at the door again shortly afterward but Woodside's Tom Morton staved off the TD with an interception on the nine.

The Wildcats had a short offensive drive going in the final minutes but lost the ball on downs at their own 48. Tabor, running at fullback, sparked the final Trojan attack along with Askew. On the last play of the game, Ray was halted on the one-foot line by the desperate Woodsiders.

Jubilant Trojans carried Costello off the field and Ravenswood fans swarmed about the footballers, shouting and whooping it up.

A Hole Through the Right Side . . .

. . . of the line let Menlo-Atherton halfback Lee Buckingham (20) break loose for a good gain against Cubberley at Terremere Field last Wednesday. This march petered out, but the Bears got another one started a little later to take a 7-0 lead. But they couldn't hold it and lost 14-7, finishing their season on a losing note.

Bears 4-5 on Gridiron:

Long, Long Season Ends

That did it, brother; the end. The first losing season since 1953 for the Menlo-Atherton Bears poked its ugly head into the record books last Wednesday, the Cubberley Cougars dumping the Bruins 14-7 to set the M-A slate at four wins, five losses for the year. The Bears' South Peninsula Athletic League also was nothing to scream about, 2-4.

Even without triple-threat quarterback Don Castle to contend with, the Bears came unglued at the wrong times, losing three fumbles, the last one with a minute and a half left to play and the Bears on the Cubberley 26.

Coach Art Boettcher's Bruins got on the scoreboard first after stopping a Cougar march on the M-A 22. From there, Jim Holland returned an intercepted Bill Pletsch pass to the Bear 38.

Halfback Gene Kumagai and fullback Dick Cattich took turns working the ball down to the Cougar one, from whence Kumagai danced through a hole and into the end zone. Cattich carried in the extra point.

It wasn't until after the half that real trouble started for the Bears. Cubberley got the ball and drove it 60 yards for a score, Gil Moore going for the final two yards. Herm Meister booted the extra point and it was knotted at 7-7.

It stayed that way until another 60-yard campaign in the fourth period put the Cubberleys ahead for keeps. A roughing the kicker penalty helped the Cougars, who found themselves stopped at the M-A seven with a fourth down and goal to go.

But then, Cougar halfback Kent Weber took off around his right, found the place jammed, so reversed his field and tried the left side. His blockers cleaned out the path and in he went. Pletsch passed to Dick Clay for the conversion point.

Dave Olerich's fumble on the Cubberley 26 with time running out finished the Bears' grave-digging.

Just the same, Boettcher had kind words for Olerich's work, his first start of the season. He also liked the works of defensive backs Dave Havard, Jim Holland and Bill Werner, guard Bill Summers and Mike Connaway.

Oaks Cagers To Debut

So now basketball takes over the sports spotlight at Menlo College. Tonight, as a matter of fact, coach Jack Rowley's big bunch of Oaks open their 1960-61 season in a scrap with the Santa Clara University freshmen at San Jose Civic Auditorium. Game time is 6 p.m. It's a preliminary to the Santa Clara-San Francisco State varsity scramble.

Tomorrow night the Oaks do it again in another 6 p.m. prelim, going to Spartan Gym in San Jose to meet the SJS frosh.

The fact that they're playing freshman teams this week probably gives Rowley no advantage; he has only four sophomores on his 14-man squad.

The Oaks posted a 13-12 overall record and 4-8 in the Coast Conference last year, one that Rowley figures his charges should improve on this time out. Ten of them stand 6' 2 or over.

Rowley wasn't too sure about some of his starters this week, the reason not being because his club is "loaded," as athletic director Bo Molenda jokingly asserted, but because many have been showing up well in practice and he just hadn't made up his mind.

He listed freshmen Dick Austin (6' 1) and Shel Buch (6' 3) as his guards, soph Tom Inman (6' 2) and frosh Marv Lotz (6' 3) as forwards, and either Paul Latzke (6' 5) or former Menlo-Atherton High athlete Larry Krenzin (6' 6) at center.

"These two frosh clubs are good," Rowley said, "and I wish we'd had a practice game before meeting them

Here's RHS Football Queen . . .

. . . Her name is Pat Cota and she's in the center of this host of pretty gals from Ravenswood High who were given a royal welcome by Trojan fans (background) as the young ladies circled the Woodside High School track during the annual RHS-Woodside grid game. Left to right are Melodie Tibbs, Dianne Koory, Miss Cota, Sandy Gravelle and Dixie Davenport.

Our Hearts Were Young and Gay . . .

. . . That's the title of the Ravenswood High play which hits the boards today in J building—but members of the cast seemed to belie the title in this scene. Pat Toner (second from left) plays a very seasick Cornelia Otis Skinner, who wrote the autobiography from which the play was taken. Aiding her are Jim Lewis (left) as Leo and Paul Servelle as Dick. At right is Gloria Garrison, who plays Pat's travelling companion.

M-A Grid:

HONORS

Senior guard Bill Summers swept two honors in voting by his Menlo-Atherton varsity football teammates this week. The 160-pound SPAL honorable mention was named co-captain and Most Valuable Player of the season, according to coach Art Boettcher.

Other co-captain was senior end Jim Cheatham. Sophomore guard Mike Conaway was voted Most Improved Player.

Summers was the bulwark of the M-A line this year, playing both guard on offense and linebacker on defense. Cheatham's running and pass-catching made him a major threat in the Bears' aerial game.

In the Garden:

Planters and Plants for Them—What's for You?

There are two kinds of containers for plants: those that add to the appearance of whatever they hold, and those that detract from it. If you don't use the first kind, best put your plants in the ground.

Old barrel halves with rusted hoops and rotting wood orange crates, knocked together and stained to resemble redwood are no substitutes for the real thing. And nursery cans, however practical they are in the nursery, are not the preferred embellishment for a deck or entrance way.

If you are going to make your own, at least paint those hoops with a non-corrosive paint and use redwood to start with.

When it comes to filling them, there are few restrictions. You could, if you liked, grow a giant Sequoia in a container. And the use of Citrus in tubs has become commonplace. You don't have to be a Bonsai expert to do it.

For deck and terrace, the lacy textures of Golden Bamboo are well fitted to planters (you don't need a big one). This is especially attractive in the bam-boo-trimmed soy tubs or in redwood.

We've always been partial to Chrysanthemums in containers, but the long growing season before bloom arrives makes them less adapted to a permanent place in the patio. The answer is to get blooming plants and sink them in the container. When the bloom is gone, replace them with other blooming plants.

Bird of Paradise is a lovely subject for containers. Gardenias often prefer such culture — especially where the container can be moved into a warm, sunny spot. The possibilities are really unlimited, and the gardener who seeks them out can have himself no end of pleasure. Try it and see.

GARDENER'S CHECKLIST

1. Prepare ground for planting bare-root roses when they arrive on the market in a fortnight or so. Work manure and bonemeal into the soil. A little extra work now means better trees later.

2. If crab grass bothered you last summer (if you had it, it bothered you), check with your nurseryman about a control to apply now.

3. Layer manure in shrub beds and let the rains work it in. Work bonemeal and commercial soil conditioners into the soil, also.

4. Winter stocks need good drainage. Be sure you don't plant them in a garden low spot.

5. Feeding a lawn in late November does a lot toward keeping it green over the winter.

Rec Grid Tourney This Week

It's tournament time again for the playground footballers of Menlo Park Recreation Department's playground grid program.

First round of the tourney started yesterday for the sixth grade, with Laurel School meeting Willow School and Fremont playing Encinal at Burgess Park and Oak Knoll playing host to Hillview at the Oak Knoll grounds.

The fifth grade gets cranked up tomorrow after school with Encinal vs. Oak Knoll and Hillview vs. Fremont at Burgess Park.

Seventh and eighth grade action begins Saturday like this: Seventh, Menlo Oaks vs. La Entrada, 9 a.m.; Encinal vs. Hillview, 10 a.m. Eighth, Menlo Oaks vs. Oak Knoll, 11 a.m.; La Entrada vs. Encinal, 12 noon.

All of this week's winners will meet next Saturday, Dec. 10, in the semi-finals. The winners of those will advance to the big championship playoff in each grade Dec. 17. All games will be at Burgess Park.

Laurel School in the fifth grade, Oak Knoll in the seventh and Hillview in the eighth drew byes for the opening round this week.

The Statistical Story:

Johnson, Bracy Led RHS Cage Teams in Points, Rebounds

Milky Johnson, headed for varsity duty in 1961, was the top athlete in every area for the Ravenswood High SPAL D division basketball champions, statistics compiled by coach Tom Crane show.

Bob Bracy, by virtue of a fast finish in the scoring department, was the overall leader in Ravenswood C team statistics.

Johnson scored 295 points in 15 games, a 19.4 average. His total of 272 points in 14 league games, was, of course, a new SPAL record.

Over the 15-game route, Johnson took 302 shots, hit on 138 of them and compiled an outstanding 46 per cent average. He hauled in 135 rebounds to lead the team and scored on 19 free throws, also tops.

Bobby Washington was second in scoring on the D team with a 7.9 average on 119 points scored in 15 games. He had a 32 per cent shooting average and 105 rebounds.

Bracy of the C team just edged Len Wiley in the scoring duel, while Tom Duran, N. L. Scott and Gene Tate also made substantial contributions to team scoring.

Bob, with a couple of 22-point efforts near season's end, wound up with 154 points in 15 games for a 10.3 average. He was head and shoulders above the rest of the team—and was probably first or second in the league—in nabbing rebounds. He had 217, including 30 in one game, a league record.

Bracy and Wiley had the same number of field goals 59—but Bob edged Len in free throw scoring. Wiley had a fine 9.7 average and was second in rebounds with 101.

Steady Tom Duran had 108 points for a 7.2 average and had 58 rebounds.

Open Season on Records:

M-A Smashes Water Polo Marks with Wild Abandon

South Peninsula Athletic League water polo scoring records fell wholesale this season, in both varsity and frosh-soph divisions.

For the second year in a row, Sequoia's Marty Hull set a new varsity mark. He got 55 this year, eclipsing last year's standard of 44. Menlo-Atherton's Bill Ready chased Hull in for the second year too, finishing second with 36. He had 35 last year.

M-A placed seven among the league's top scorers, more than any other club. Dave MacKenzie and Dan Innes placed sixth and seventh for the Bruins, with 18 and 13 respectively.

Woodside's Bob Plate topped the Woodside Wildcats, coming in fifth in the scoring with 20. Rick Wiley was next for the Cats with nine.

The frosh-sophs had the biggest splurge of record-setters, however. With two more games played and time increased by four minutes, the sky was the limit; M-A's Jim MacKenzie reached it with a tremendous 73 total, more than triple the old mark of 23. In all, 12 players exceeded the old record.

Greg Buckingham finished second behind MacKenzie with 61 for the SPAL champion Bears.

Nick Cummings topped Woodside lightweight scorers with 34. Gary Fitschen was the next highest Wildcat with 21.

Vince Sutton was tops for Ravenswood, equalling the old mark with 23. Right behind him for the Trojans was Curtis Rabun with 18.

These marks, both varsity and frosh-soph, probably will never be equalled because the water polo schedule is being cut to a single round-robin next year, instead of the present double round-robin.

RHS Cagers Open at So. SF

First basketball action of the season for Ravenswood High's varsity and B hopefuls begins tomorrow night at 7 p.m. when the local teams are hosted by the South San Francisco Warriors.

Ravenswood will be minus 6-1 forward George Raybon, one of the league's better scorers last year, due to scholastic difficulties. Raybon may be able to join the team next week if he can boost his grades.

Coach Tom Crane announced that these players will start for the varsity:

Forwards, Milt Dickerson (5-11) and Clifton Grandy (6-2); center, Tim Johnson (6-3); guards, Tom Heredia (5-11) and Nate Branch (6-1).

Pressing the starting five and destined to see some action are forwards Bill Rose (6-1) and Ray Preedy (6-0), center Art Crum (6-2) and guards Otis Bell (5-11) and John Hawkins (5-11).

For the B team, Bob Dannel and Dave Cheney will start at forwards, John Perez will be the center, and Ken Fujihara and Sam Yamakoshi will be the guards. Close behind them are Arnold Wiley, who's been ill; Chris Kendall, Joe Williams, Jim Holl, Charles Beckum and James Field.

The B teams will start the action at 7 p.m.

"We have not had a lot of practice," Crane said, "and what we have had has been somewhat ragged."

He said he hoped his teams could shake off early-season mistakes and perform creditably in their first games of the season. The Trojans hit the road next Tuesday to meet Saratoga High there at 3:30 p.m.

TROBABE CO-CAPTAINS

Halfback Dave Cheney and guard Mike Capuano were selected co-captains of the Ravenswood frosh-soph football squad, coach Tom Rivera has announced.

WATER POLO HONOREES

Senior Mike Juvet was elected captain of the Woodside varsity water polo team last week according to coach Boyd Mickley. Junior Bob Plate was named Most Valuable Player and junior Don Roth was voted Most Improved Player by the team.

Paly Back Wins Race:

Cheney Nails Second Spot in SPAL Frosh-Soph Scoring

Ravenswood sophomore halfback Dave Cheney's four touchdown runs in the frosh-soph football season finale against San Carlos almost earned him the South Peninsula Athletic League's lightweight grid scoring title this year.

The fleet redhead came in with 45 points, seven TD's and three conversion points, to end up second behind Palo Alto halfback Jim Williams, who garnered 48 points with eight touchdowns, and one point ahead of Cubberley's Kirby Ruff, who had 44.

Woodside quarterback Bill Welsh was fourth in scoring with 36 and Wildcat end Harvey Shank fifth with 31, these two often teaming to lead the surprising Cats to a third-place finish in the SPAL.

Menlo - Atherton's Bruce Morningstar was eighth with 29 points on four teedees and five PAT's, just one point ahead of Woodside freshman halfback Steve Clark's four and four.

Wildcat fullback Dick Specht was next highest for the Woodsiders with three touchdowns and one extra point for a 19 total, one in front of M-A's Bill Cook, who had three touchdowns for 18.

Ron Peres was the second highest Ravenswood scorer with 14.

Tilts Tonight Begin Rec Adult Basketball League

The Ravenswood Recreation and Park District adult basketball league gets under way this week with six teams—one more than last year.

They are the Knight Mares, Hiller Heres, Philco, Ravenswood Recs, the Door Mats and a new team managed by Pete Evans.

One game will be played on Wednesday evenings and two games on Thursday evenings. The first game will begin at 7:20 and the second at 8:30.

All games will be played at the Green Oaks School gymnasium on Ralmar avenue in East Palo Alto.

Tonight, the first game will be between the Knight Mares and the Ravenswood Recs. The second game will pit the Hiller Heres against Philco.

Wednesday, Dec. 7, the Knight Mares meet the Hiller Heres. On Thursday, Dec. 8, the first game will be between the new team managed by Peter Evans and Philco. The Ravenswood Recs will meet the Door Mats in the second game.

FROSH-SOPHS NAMED

The Woodside frosh-soph water polo honorary captain this year is Art Kauffman, by vote of the squad. Nick Cummings was selected Most Valuable Player and Gary Fitschen Most Improved.

The Senior Class . . .

. . . of Menlo-Atherton High for the first time in its stage history is putting on a serious drama for its annual play. This one is "Dino," the story of a juvenile delinquent and his many problems. The male lead of Dina Falcaro is played by Bill Friedrich, shown helping Shirley Wallace, the female lead done by Donna Winston, with her books. Photo at left is another scene, left to right: Libby Waldo as Miss Haines, Candi Kraft as Jackie the secretary, and Jim Clennney as Mr. Sheridan. The curtain goes up at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday in the school multi-purpose room. The play was written by Kristin Sergel. Faculty director is Kenneth Olson. Tickets will be available at the door. —Recorder photos

'Poet' Due for Stanford Bowout

The West Coast premiere of Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet" will play for three more performances in the Little Theatre on the Stanford campus. The comedy is scheduled tonight, tomorrow and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

The Stanford Players' production, under the direction of Lawrence Wismer, is being presented in an arena staging. Former Broadway actor Edmund Roney plays the leading role of Cornelius Melody, an alien in Massachusetts, whose bitter pride protects a myth he has to make of himself.

"A Touch of the Poet," the last of O'Neill's full length plays, was a starring vehicle on Broadway for Helen Hayes, Eric Portman and Kim Stanley.

Tickets are on sale at Memorial Box Office, DA 3-0665 weekdays from 10:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Audubon Society Sets 'Screen Tour'

Nature's intricate balance in equipping animals to survive the perils of their environments will be depicted in "Designs for Survival" unique color film to be presented as the second program in the Santa Clara County Audobon Society's annual "screen tour" in the Morris Dailey auditorium, San Jose State College, tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Commentator will be William A. Anderson, Florida naturalist, who has produced a striking film which reveals in natural color Nature's designs for feeding, movement, protection and reproduction of various species of animal life.

Season tickets for the series in which there are four more presentations, are available in Room 221 of the Natural Science building, State College, or at the door of the auditorium Friday evening. Single admission also are available.

'Road to Heaven' To Be Shown

First Peninsula showing of the Swedish film classic, "Road to Heaven" will be held next Friday and Saturday, Dec. 9 and 10, at 8:15 p.m. at the Palo Alto Art Club, 855 Cowper street. The showing is sponsored by Contemporary Cinema, but is not a part of its regular series.

Selected shorts also will be shown. Further information may be obtained by calling DA 5-0686 or YO 8-3637.

Play Opens At High School

A 3:30 p.m. matinee today in the school auditorium will open the three-day run of the most ambitious drama production to date at Ravenswood High — the three-act comedy, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Gloria Garrison and Pat Toner are the leading players in the story of two teenage girls on their first unchaperoned trip abroad.

The comedy, which includes large doses of slapstick, will also be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights, drama instructor Van Dietz said.

The public is especially invited to attend, Dietz said, since the production is the first three-act play ever presented by Ravenswood High students.

The play was written by Jean Kerr, who has authored several best-selling books in recent years, and was taken from the autobiography of actress Cornelia Otis Skinner.

Student director is Berdina Hart. Victor Borgnis is stage manager and Mary Hyatt is in charge of properties.

Heading the biggest cast in Ravenswood High's short history are Miss Toner, who plays the part of Miss Skinner, and Miss Garrison, who is Emily Kimbrough, Miss Skinner's friend.

The two young ladies appear in virtually every scene and "carry" the action throughout.

The supporting cast includes Jack Rauch as renowned actor Otis Skinner, Miss Toners' father in the play; Maralyn Duncan as Mrs. Skinner; Paul Servelle as Dick Winter, and Jim Lewis as Leo McEvoy.

E. J. Harris is the steward; Victor Jones, the purser; Jan Gillespie, the stewardess; Veda Low, the inspector; Randy Kimball, the admiral; Betty Steligo, Therese; Dorothy Willis, Elise; Gabe Limon, Monsieur Delacroix; Bill Perkins, the window-washer, and Hazel Cody and Nancy Faulk, two English girls.

Dietz said he has issued an invitation to all elementary school students in the East Palo Alto-Belle Haven area to attend the play's afternoon performance today.

Ticket costs for the matinee will be 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for students, 25 cents for students with student body cards and 10 cents for children. Evening performance tickets will cost one dollar, 75 cents, 50 cents, and 25 cents.

'Damn Yankees' Closes Saturday

After six long months, the Comedia production of "Damn Yankees" will close Saturday night with its performance at 8:30 in the Loft Theatre, Emerson at Hamilton, Palo Alto.

Produced by Peter Kump and directed by Leslie Abbott, this production marks their third musical comedy success in a row to take the long running records of Peninsula theatre history. Their first two were "The Boy Friend" which ran for a total of eight months, and "Where's Charley?" which ran over six months.

November Business:

Officers, Dues, Christmas Trees Get Teen Club Action

New officers were elected, dues were decided upon and a Christmas tree selling project was initiated at the November meeting of the Menlo Park Recreation Department's Teen Club, held Saturday at Fremont School multi-purpose room.

The new officers: Steve Smith, president; George Davis, vice-president; Sue Sleeper, recording secretary; Connie Hunt, corresponding secretary; Dennie Sequira, treasurer; Barbara Wallace, financial secretary.

Dues will be $1 for a through month period beginning Dec. 10, the Club decided.

Paul Herzman and Mike Mehlman were named co-chairmen of the Christmas tree activity, starting next month in conjunction with the Menlo Park Kiwanis Club.

Comedia's '13 Clocks' Returns for Holiday Run

Opening tonight to a sold-out house will be Comedia's revival of James Thurber's only musical comedy, "The Thirteen Clocks."

The musical was presented last year during the holiday season for a limited run, and due to popular demand it is being revived this season for 10 performances, one of which will be a matinee.

Although the cast is basically the same as last year's production, the play is being entirely redirected by Eric Silins, with new choreography by Belinda Rose. The music, by one of America's most famous new composers, Mark Bucci, is being directed and played by David Williams.

Philip Schultz again takes the role of the evil Duke Diehard, with Eric Silins as the Golux. Shapleigh Howell once again will portray the prince, with Doris Marion as the princess. Miss Marion has appeared regularly at the Pagliacci Playhouse and is new to "The Thirteen Clocks." Dorothy Wyman once again will play the favorite character of Hagga, the good witch who cries jewels.

Jerry Grant will take over the role of Hark. Others in the cast include Dianne Huntsberger, Ron Coxin, Don Tabor, Corinne Kason, Eleanor Edelson, Margot Jones and Leslie Stratte.

The costumes were designed by Sharon Gray and the settings by Terry Williams, with lighting by David Seibert. The play is produced by Peter Kump.

For information regarding the playing schedule of "The Thirteen Clocks" call The Loft Theater, Emerson at Hamilton, Palo Alto, DA 6-8317.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Gunvor Orstavik, Norwegian exchange student attended the Big Game with her American family, the Dr. Alec MacKenzies and four of their children. Because Gunvor has a special interest in architecture, they made a tour of the buildings on the Berkeley campus.

Two surprise birthday cakes marked the 17th birthday of Juan Pedreno, AFS exchange student from Spain. Mrs. Donald Kennedy, the American mother, entertained at a dinner party recently for the Ralph Roberts family, including Mike Roberts and Jill and Lynn Craven. After dinner, neighborhood teen-agers surprised him with another birthday cake. Present were Judy Boynton, her brother, Ron, Ricky Silverman, Penny Durfee, Carolyn Means, Ann Madsen, Bob Kennedy and Kathy Bohrer, a newcomer to the neighborhood who attends Palo Alto High School.

Nativity Parishioners . . .

. . . wind up months of work as they move the fairyland booths and props into the school auditorium for the annual bazaar to be presented on Saturday and Sunday. John McManus and Dan D'Alessandro heft the pirate chest for Peter Pan's boat while Tom Payne, Frank Carter, Henry Tagler and Martin McLoughlin prepare to assemble Rapunzel's castle. A complete playhouse will be awarded some lucky child during the two-day event.

Ingenuity Transforms Hall Into Children's Fairyland

Operation "Magic Carpet" came to a successful conclusion this past weekend as members of Nativity parish worked diligently to transport their Christmas Fantasy Bazaar Village from its workshop to the school auditorium on Laurel street in Menlo Park.

The colorful sets were placed on trucks furnished by Frank Carter and Henry Tagler, as Robert McCorkle, Dan D'Alessandro, John McManus, Martin McLoughlin, Thomas Payne, Kenneth Burns and Tim Tagler stood by to unload and place. The threat of rain only porvided a good reason to work faster and every set was under cover as the first shower of the day commenced.

DESIGNERS

This novel approach to a bazaar was designed, planned and constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCorkle of 650 Nash avenue, acting as chairman and co-chairman.

An attractive feature of the Dec. 3 and Dec. 4 fund-raising event will be the awarding of a full size playhouse to some lucky youngster. Constructed by Frank Hernandez, the house features an open beam ceiling and a shake roof and even boasts a linoleum floor with curtains at the windows.

The storyland village will feature Peter Pan's boat with a pirate treasure chest, a gingerbread house and Rapunzel's castle. Beautifully dressed dolls will be housed in the Old Lady's Shoe. These are but a few of the surprises that await your inspection. Mother Goose will be on hand as will Peter Pan and Raggedy Ann and Andy.

The storybook team of elves and helpers who have handled the various departments are Mrs. Richard Speed, Mrs. Edward Ryan, Mrs. Charles Savio, Mrs. Donald Colin, Mrs. Allan Gallagher, Mrs. Frank Hernandez, Mrs. Edward Harrington, Mrs. Louis Walker, Mrs. Richard Blackman, Mrs. Martin McLoughlin, Mrs. Dale Smith, Mrs. William Eggleston, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. Melvin Gross Mrs. Clarence Pfeffer, Mrs. Frank Peavy, Mrs. William Steffan, Mrs. Alvina Wiphler, Mrs. A. J. Genevro and Mrs. Dan D'Alessandro.

"Christmas Fantasy" is open to the general public free of charge this weekend, Saturday and Sunday. Doors will open at 10 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. on both days.

S. F. Symphony Offers Two Bus Plans For Area

The San Francisco Symphony Association which manages, maintains and presents the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, will not only sponsor its two special bus plans for Peninsula residents this season — the "Symphony Concert Specials"—but will also inaugurate an "Express Bus" for more distant areas.

Introduced four seasons ago, the regular "Symphony Concert Special" buses will again be available for Friday afternoon season ticket subscribers —one bus, SF-Peninsula (A) emanating from the Stanford Shopping Center in Palo Alto, stopping in Burlingame, and continuing on to Union Square; the second bus, SF-Peninsula (B) will operate directly from Redwood City to Union Square.

Geared to alleviate ever increasing traffic problems, the novel idea provides round-trip chartered bus transportation, via Greyhound, from Peninsula points to Union Square, Opera House, and return for 20 Friday afternoon regular subscription concerts.

In addition to these regular "Symphony Concert Specials," arrangements are now being made for a direct "Express Bus" in the deep Peninsula as an added convenience to accommodate those persons who reside in Los Altos, Los Altos Hills, and the Santa Clara County area. The "Express Bus" will emanate from the parking plaza on First street, opposite the Los Altos SP depot. It will make one stop at the Town and Country Shopping Center (behind Lee Bros.), Embarcadero road, Palo Alto, and continue on to Union Square in San Francisco. This "Express Bus," for which there is much demand, will operate only if the requisite number of persons subscribe (37).

All three plans provide a stopover at Union Square for two and three-quarter hours for luncheon and shopping before the bus continues to the Opera House for the afternoon concert.

Subscribers should make out two checks payable to the San Francisco Symphony Association which will cover: (1) the cost of your season ticket in the price range you wish, and (2) round-trip Greyhound bus transportation ($34.60).

The "Symphony Concert Special," SF-Peninsula (A) schedule:

Lv	Palo Alto	10:15
Lv	Burlingame	10:45

'Happy Holly-Daze':

Vocalist Will Add Sparkle To Newcomers Yule Dance

Happy Holly-Daze, the Menlo-Atherton Newcomers Club Christmas dinner-dance to be held on Saturday evening at Rickey's Rose Room will be all the more appealing to the membership and guests due to entertainment to be presented by Delores Bernhard (Mrs. Stanley), a Newcomer member and talented performer.

A soprano, the blonde, blue-eyed Mrs. Bernhard, joined Newcomers in 1959 when she and her insurance broker husband moved to Atherton from San Francisco. The mother of three children, Richard, 8, Gordon, 7, and Penny, 6, she is currently in rehearsal preparing to sing the lead role in Kiss Me Kate at Comedia, opening Dec. 29 ,and will also sing the lead in Die Fledermaus in the West Bay Opera presentation. Fledermaus is scheduled for the Palo Alto Community Theater opening on Feb. 11.

JUGGLER

Juggling her roles of wife and mother and performer sometimes renders Mrs. Bernhard a little breathless as it has during the past week when she has been planning the selections she will sing at the Newcomers' Christmas party and playing nurse to a young patient recovering from a tonsilectomy.

Del, as she is known to her friends, has sung the lead parts in The Merry Widow, The Red Mill, Amahl and the Night Visitors, Kiss Me Kate (a previous performance), Sand Hog, Pal Joey, Duchess of Washoe, Great to be Alive, and Lady in the Dark. While living in San Francisco, she worked with the Opera Ring.

With a very full schedule, Mrs. Bernhard handles all of her committments and obligations as necessary details, but her emphasis is on Christmas for the children. At a time when many women might procrastinate a little, she is working hard on a Christmas tablecloth which will become one of the holiday traditions in the Bernhard home.

INTERESTS

Swimming, sewing, cooking and gardening are not duties to Delores Bernhard but enthusiasms. She also is a bunny-hill skiing enthusiast and looks forward to the day when she can do more traveling.

Among organizations to which the many-faceted Mrs. Bernhard has volunteered her time are the Children's Hospital in San Francisco. She was chairman of pediatric volunteers when a San Francisco resident. She participates in the escort service of the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital; is membership chairman for the Menlo-Atherton Newcomers and historian for the Palo Alto Auxiliary to the Santa Clara County Crippled Children's Society.

The Newcomers will benefit the American Field Service (student exchange program) with Saturday's eagerly-awaited party.

Walt Tolleson's Orchestra will provide music for dancing. Mrs. William Friedrich, chairman of the dance, has also arranged pre-dinner no-host cocktal parties to be held in the homes of eight Newcomer members. From 6 p.m. until 7:30 p.m., the parties, each carrying its own theme, will be given in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Christenson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hine, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lautz, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lucky, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Minard, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pipe.

Getting Lots of Advice . . .

. . . Mrs. Stanley Bernhard stitches a Christmas tablecloth. Her audience at home consists of Penny, 6, Gordon, 7, and Richard, 8. Her audience on Dec. 3 will be fellow members of the Menlo-Atherton Newcomers, their husbands and guests who will gather for the group's annual Christmas dinner dance. The very attractive soprano also is in rehearsal for "Kiss Me Kate" to be presented at Comedia on Dec. 29 and for "Die Fledermaus" to be given by the West Bay Opera Co. in February.

Couple Repeat Vows

St. Ann's Chapel was the setting for a recent wedding in which Robert Kramer Gaughran, a teacher at Menlo-Atherton High School, claimed Barbara Alice Henning as his bride.

For the double ring ceremony, Barbara chose a gown of white peau de soie, fashioned with a batteau neckline ,three-quarter length sleeves, button front and a narrow sash. She wore a shoulder length veil, held by a satin bow.

Her maid of honor was Janet Stultz of Carmel, a sorority sister of Barbara's at the College of the Pacific. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Scott and Mrs. Arvid Wahlquist, both of Palo Alto, and Marilyn Jernigan and Carol Jacobson, both of San Francisco.

BEST MAN

James M. Gaughran, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Barbara attended Palo Alto High School and College of the Pacific-where she was affiliated with Alpha Theta Tau and Kappa Alpha Theta. She is now employed in the Naval War Research Division of Stanford Research Institute.

Robert attended Sequoia High School and the College of the Pacific. At college, he was a member of Omega Phi Alpha, Olympic Club, and a member of the Olympic Club water polo team.

Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. Emma F. Henning of Palo Alto and Clifton Henning of Sacramento.

Robert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Gaughran of Redwood City.

Molner-Wilcox Betrothal

The traditional passing of a box of candy announced the engagement of Carol Ann Molner to Darrell E. Wilcox.

The news was revealed to Carol's Delta Zeta sorority sisters recently at Long Beach State College where the bride elect is majoring in business education.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Molner of Los Angeles.

Darrell's mother is Mrs. Gilbert Broughton of Menlo Park. The future benedict is studying at Stanford University, majoring in chemical engineering.

He is president of the Stanford chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

The couple is planning a June 17 wedding.

At Sharon Estate:

Friends Of Priory Present Yule Sale

On Saturday, the Sharon Estate, the wails of which could tell many a story of the area's past, will once more bustle with festivity when the Friends of the Woodside Priory present their sale of Christmas decorations between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

A shuttle bus will provide transportation up and down the driveway which winds its way u pthe hillside to the historic mansion. Eggnogs and refreshment will be served throughout the afternoon.

A variety of awards will be made during the sale including a photographic portrait sitting, free milk delivery over a period of months, and gift certificates from two ladies' specialty shops.

Chairman of the sale is Mrs. Philip Fitzgerald. The decorations to be sold are the handiwork of women interested in the Woodside Priory, a preparatory school for boys in the Portola Valley. Among items for sale are decorative espaliered trees, nylon net angels bedecked with sequins and decorated hydrangea trees. Particularly appealing are the filled Christmas balls — bisected plastic bubbles joined around small figurines and Christmas scenes.

Among those women who have worked for many months in workshops to prepare the sale items are Mrs. Leroy Hills, Mrs. Kenneth Baxter, Mrs. William Lange, Mrs. Samuel J. Wright Jr., Mrs. Malcolm Kirkbride, Mrs. Bowman Rodgers, Mrs. Alex Eisenberg, Mrs. Walter McNibb, Mrs. Joseph Musto, Mrs. Edward Washburn, Mrs. Frederick Knoop and Mrs. Mackall Jason.

Brooks-Luft Betrothal

The engagement of Nancy Lou Brooks to Robert S. Luft was announced recently by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Louis L. Brooks of Menlo Park.

Nancy is a graduate of San Jose State College and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is employed as a probation officer in San Diego. Her brother, Robert, is a sophomore at San Jose State.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edwin G. Luft of Monroe, Mich. He is a graduate of the University of South Carolina where he was affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma. He is a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps, stationed in Oceanside, Calif.

The couple will be married March 11.

Disclose Sale Results

The Children's Health Council of the Mid-Peninsula will receive $5000 as a result of the Christmas Gift-O-Rama held Nov. 2 at the Sharon Estate, Mrs. Hans Goldschmidt, general chairman, announced this week.

The workshops still continue to supply special orders taken at the sale which will increase the total when the books are closed.

The money goes to support the work of the Council, a non-profit medical facility which provides a rehabilitation center for children who are physically handicapped, a speech and hearing clinic, a guidance center for those with emotional difficulties and a nursery school for retarded children.

Lovely antiques suitable for gifts were a new feature of the Christmas sale contributing to this year's success. Such items, given or bequeathed to the Council, are handled by the Charter Auxiliary through their Estate Sale Committee. Antiques were also contributed by the William Ober Shop and through Mrs. Dent McDonough of Merryvale in San Francisco.

Tables for kaffee klatsch were another welcome addition patronized by the 2000 shoppers.

Mrs. Goldschmidt speaks for all Auxiliary members and CHC itself, saying,

"The Children's Health Council is truly filled with thanksgiving for the warm response of many friends, individuals, and organizations in the community."

During Tea Hours:

Choirs To Carol At Allied Arts

Christmas carols during the tea hour are another of the traditions of the Allied Arts Guild in Menlo Park.

In the weeks before Christmas, the well-known Menlo esplanade of shops which supports the Stanford Convalescent Home, also will display imported and domestic Christmas tree ornaments, Yuletide cards, and a large selection of gifts.

Beginning on Monday, Dec. 5 and on eight other days, Mid-Peninsula youth choirs will sing Christmas carols from 3:45 to 4:15 during the tea hours at the Guild. Each Christmas season singing groups from nearby schools and churches alternate so that many choirs may participate.

This year the following groups have been scheduled to entertain tea-goers:

Dec. 5, Menlo-Atherton High School; Wednesday, Dec. 7, Cubberley High School; Friday, Dec. 9, Wilbur Junior High School; Monday, Dec. 12, Castilleja School; Wednesday, Dec. 14, Van Auken School; Thursday, Dec. 15, Palo Alto High School; Friday, Dec. 16, Encinal, Hillview and Oak Knoll schools; Tuesday, Dec. 20, All Saints Episcopal church youth choir; Wednesday, Dec. 21, Menlo Park Presbyterian Boys' Choir.

No choirs sing on Saturday when the tea room closes at 4:30, nor will there be choirs on the two Sundays, Dec. 4 and Dec. 11, when the Guild shops will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the tea room from noon to 4 p.m. Reservations for tea are necessary during the Christmas season. They may be made by telephoning the lunch room at the Allied Arts Guild in Menlo Park.

Members of the Palo Alto Junior Auxiliary serve lunch and tea. The Woodside-Atherton Junior Auxiliary staffs the shops. Proceeds go toward the support of the Stanford Convalescent Home.

West Bay Opera Guild Meets Dec. 6

To celebrate their first Christmas meeting, members of the West Bay Opera Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Brechler, 123 Chester street, Menlo Park, Tuesday evening, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m.

Mary Jane Lampston (Mrs. Jack Lampton) and Betty Apperson (Mrs. Ralph Apperson), members of the West Bay Opera Association, will participate in the program of Christmas music planned for the evening. Bonnie Robertson (Mrs. Don Robertson) will accompany the singers.

Mrs. Brechler, Guild president, is putting up her Christmas decorations in time for the Tuesday meeting.

Penny Sewell's column, "Menlo-Atherton Teen Topics," will appear this week on page 12 of the Menlo Park Recorder.

KKG Alums Hold Yule Party Dec. 7

The annual Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae Christmas party will be held Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. This joint meeting of the junior and senior groups will be at the home of Mrs. S. W. Garrett Jr., 700 San Mateo drive Menlo Park.

Kathy Gant, the daughter of the Homer Gants of Atherton, will play the organ for group singing of Christmas carols. Each member will bring a gift for a child in a foster home. Christmas tree ornaments will be exchanged among the members

Chairman of the party is Mrs. H. M. Stewart. Mrs. W. C. Speirs of Atherton is a committee member.

All Kappas in the area are welcome to attend and may call Mrs. Garrett for further information.

Schedule Yule Tea

The Menertons will hold their annual Christmas Tea on Thursday, Dec. 15, at the Veterans Memorial Building in Redwood City. The public is cordially invited to attend the affair which is being held from 1 p.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Acolorful and varied Christmas program is being planned for the event which is always eagerly awaited by Menertons and their friends as a high point of the Christmas season.

This year the Bay Area Ballet Company will perform a traditional Christmas ballet and will also perform folk dances tied to the Yule observances of the people of many lands. They will be musically accompanied by the San Francisco State Choral group.

Tickets can be purchased through Menertons and at the door on the day of the Yuletide Tea. For reservations, those interested may contact Mrs. R. G. Carpenter, EM 6-2449.

Setting the stage for the dancers and the choral group will be elaborate Christmas decorations as executed by Mrs. Edward Lanz, Mrs. Guy Sperry and Mrs. Hazel Anderson.

The Garden Section of the Menertons will hold their annual Christmas party on Dec. 20 at the home of Mrs. Richard Ludeman. Chairmanned by Mrs. H. H. Perkins, the 12:30 affair will present a program of skits from the Nutcracker Suite. The performers will be children who are pupils of Barbara Benson.

To Aid Cystic Fibrosis:

Beta Sigma Phi Selects French Theme For Benefit Dinner Dance

Armed With Spray Paint . . .

. . . and a table full of Christmas ornaments, Mrs. Carl Helfenberger and Mrs. John Varnell finish off decorations for the dinner dance to be given Friday night by the Southern Peninsula Inter-City Council of Beta Sigma Phi. To be held at Chez Yvonne, the party will benefit the Cystic Fibrosis fund. Reservations from many chapters of Beta Sigma Phi indicate that over 250 people will be present at the benefit.

—Recorder photo

Francais Noel is the theme selected by members of the Peninsula chapters of the Southern Peninsula Inter-City Council of Beta Sigma Phi for their annual benefit Christmas dance to be held tomorrow evening at the Chez Yvonne from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

This year the membership has chosen to donate proceeds from the holiday dinner dance to the fund for Cystic Fibrosis.

Reserved tables will be decorated with unusual Christmas tree decorations. Themed also to Christmas, centerpieces, door hangings, and fireplace adornments will additionally point up the organization's "Live with Wings" theme.

More than 10,000 California members of Beta Sigma Phi have adopted Cystic Fibrosis, a childhood disease, as their state project for the year. The sorority also embraces other philanthropies as well as scholarship awards, student exchange, service projects and social activities.

Every year the council stages a benefit dance for Cystic Fibrosis and many of its chaptrs contribute individually. Over $20,000 has been given during the past two years to the University of California for research in this field.

Among those planning tomorrow evening's Yuletide dance are Mary Ellen Carey, Mrs. John Varnell, council president, and Mrs. Carl Helfenberger, vice president, all of Menlo Park.

No Sleep At Slumber Parties

By Linda Lee Lukas DA 5-5897

PIZZA PARTY

Two weeks ago Friday night, Ann L'Hommedieu had a pizza party, and following slumber party for the girls. Those attending were Susie Luthe, Cynthia Hutton, Denise Garrisino, Carol Mitchell, Jan Fillion, Mark Tuft, Daryl Rolla, Clark Atkinson, Charlie Ludeman, Jan Wyatt, George Brown, Mike Levine, Bob Donnely, and Don Richards. Dancing, listening to records and eating pizza was on the party agenda.

SLUMBER PARTY

Last Friday night Dusty Zangara had a slumber party at her home. The event started at 6:30 p.m. and those attending were Carolyn Olmo, Linda Draeger, Mary Evans, Linda Kish and Harriet Wiens.

SENIOR SLAVE DAY

November 30 was the date of the Woodside's second annual Slave Day. There was no maximum price for the slaves sold singly or in pairs of two boys and two girls. Slaves could be bought by one person or by several people jointly. The 30 seniors sold were slaves for today only. This pertained only to Woodside High School students.

EPISCOPAL Churchwomen of Holy Trinity Church will meet this morning. Father James McCleod, curate of Holy Trinity, will be guest speaker. The meeting begins at 9:30 a.m., followed by brunch at 10:30 a.m.

Native Daughters:

Parlor Welcoms Grand President

Menlo Parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West recently entertained the grand president of the order, Mrs. Edna Williams of Sequoia Parlor, Berkeley.

Both the meeting room and the dining room were decorated with autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and red berries.

Mrs. Frances E. Maloney presided and introduced the following grand officers: Mrs. Alice Shea, grand vice president; Mrs. Lee Brice, grand trustee; Mrs. Wealty Falk, grand trustee; Mrs. Evelyn I. Carlson, Palo Alto, past grand president and Irma Caton, past grand president.

Mrs. Betty Grass of Menlo Parlor, supervising deputy grand president, Mrs. Lillian King, deputy grand president of the Menlo Parlor and Mrs. Camella Allen, San Francisco deputy grand president to the Menlo Parlor, were also introduced.

During the evening Lt. Tony DeOcampo of the Menlo Park Police Department was introduced and presented with a check for the John Lyle Fund.

Asecond check was presented by the Junior Daughters, in memory of the Menlo Park police officer who was killed here in September in the line of duty.

A group of the junior daughters of Menlo Park acted as escort to the grand president, carrying branches of autumn leaves. Gifts were presented to the honored officer and checks presented for the various projects of the order from both the Menlo Parlor and from the junior organization.

The NDGW is the oldest women's organization in California. Any native born California women who is interested in joining the parlor may contact Mrs. Frances E. Maloney, DA 3-7471.

Alums Herald Yuletide

Local Delta Gamma alumnae will begin their December social calendar with a festive dinner-dance at Ladera Oaks Tennis and Swimming Club, 3249 Alpine road, on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 8 p.m.

Welcoming the holiday season, Delta Gammas and their husbands from Palo Alto, Redwood City, Menlo Park, Los Altos and Sunnyvale will dance to the music of Gerald Byrd and his band.

The general chairman of the affair is Mrs. R. Douglas Moffat. She is assisted by her committee of Mrs. Glenn E. Buzza, Menlo Park, Mrs. Gilbert Lane and Mrs. William R. Simons of Atherton.

The Delta Gammas will hold their annual afternoon Christmas party for the local blind on Sunday, Dec. 10, at Castilleja School. For many years, Miss Margarita Espinosa, principal, has given of the school's facilities to the local Delta Gamma alums to make this a joyous gathering. Mrs. William Scofield is general chairman.

Woodside High School PTA:

Christmas Rush Set For Dec. 3

Members of Woodside High School PTA have finalized plans for their third annual fund-raising dance to be presented on Dec. 3 from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Huge Christmas packages will cover the walls of the multi-purpose room and form a background for tables that will be decorated in the holiday theme. Fred Slater will furnish music with Ampex recordings including several new Christmas dance numbers.

According to John Taggart, instructor at Woodside High and chairman of the entertainment committee, a very choice selection of both student and adult talent is planned.

Refreshments carrying out the Yule theme will be served throughout the evening.

Invitations for the dance have been mailed to all interested parents and friends. Extra tickets may be purchased for guests at the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sauer, general chairmen, have been assisted in planning the dance by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowen, last year's dance planners. Proceeds from the dance will be donated to the fund for student activities.

Among those working on various dance committees are Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy of Atherton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ernst of Menlo Park and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Chernick of Menlo Park.

Others are Mrs. Richard Giles, Mrs. William Barclay, Mrs. John Nelson.

Councils To Stage Dec. 3 Vallejo Meet

The quarterly meeting of the National Council of Catholic Women of the Archdiocese of San Francisco is set for Saturday at St. Basil's Church, Tulonne and Nebraska streets in Vallejo, starting with Mass at 9 a.m.

The Solano County Council is the hostess group with Mrs. E. Glynn as president. Mrs. Marguerite Connolly, archdiocesan president, will preside at all sessions.

Luncheon will be at the Vallejo Moose Club, Nebraska and Solano streets, at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Joseph McCarthy, new provincial director, will be the speaker.

Those attending the meeting will be Ruth Donohoe, Menlo Park; Mrs. Joseph Britschgi, county parliamentarian and Mrs. Charles Geenan, president of Notre Dame Institute 124, Young Ladies Institute, and Mrs. John McQuaid, past president of the county.

Gunvor Orstavik and Juan Pedreno, American Field Service foreign exchange students at Menlo-Atherton High School, were guests at an early Thanksgiving dinner given by Mrs. Alf Uddenberg, state chairman of the Federated Women's Clubs at her home in the Marina district of San Francisco. The Norwegian girl and Spanish boy who are studying for a year at M-A joined foreign students from San Francisco State, Stanford, University of California, Capuchino High School and San Mateo High School. Dr. and Mrs. Alec McKenzie, with whom Gunvor is living while in this country, called for the students after dinner to make a guided tour of Chinatown and Telegraph Hill. Gunvor was reportedly fascinated, like many a woman before her, with the shops in the Chinese section of San Francisco.

Mrs. Bernard M. Jakobsen of Menlo Park will share her recent experiences abroad in a talk illustrated by colored slides with members of Little House at 2 p.m. on Dec. 8. Her travels took her through Spain, Morocco, Majorca, Italy, the French Riviera and Austria. She was prevented from meeting her husband in Copenhagen for the celebration of the couple's fiftieth wedding anniversary by a two-week stay in a hospital in Prague as the result of a broken arm. Mrs. Jakobsen was educated at the University of Chicago, was the principal of a high school before her marriage and has travelled widely with her engineer husband.

Sequoia Bazaar Starts

"Chef's Recipes," a collection gained from famous chefs of San Francisco and the Peninsula, and holiday wrappings and boxes will be another feature of the Sequoia Hospital Auxiliary Holiday Bazaar, to be held Dec. 2 and Dec. 3 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the Hospital Conference Room.

The bazaar is held annually as a benefit for hospital needs. This year proceeds will be used to purchase operating room equipment.

Tea will be served each day from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. In addition to the aforementioned articles, an assortment of workshop items—stuffed toys, baby clothes and jewelry novelties will be on sale. A garden center, an innovation this year, will make Christmas arrangements available. Wreaths, special foods and children's next to new clothing will also be on display.

Mrs. Anthony Franusich is general chairman of the bazaar. Mrs. Ben Cassinerio of Portola Valley, auxiliary president, is making arrangements for the tea table. Mrs. Daniel Smith of Menlo Park is co-chairman of the door prize committee.

Jr. Daughters Install New Officers

New officers of the Menlo Park Junior Native Daughters of the Golden West were publicly installed by Mrs. John Grass in the Yellow Room at the Civic Center.

Barbara King became the junior president and in her acceptance speech outlined plans for the next six months.

The theme of the evening, "Indian Summer," was carried out with fall leaves and blossoms, Indian corn, buffalo hides and small canoes.

Many guests from the county were in attendance including Mrs Wealty Falk, state guard trustee; Mrs. David Carlson, past grand president of Menlo Park chapter and Mrs. John Grass, supervising district deputy of San Mateo County.

Martha Lancestremere and Ruth Dreinek assisted with the ceremonies. Mrs. Patricia Ledesma provided the background music.

Master John King presented an interpretive Indian dance, preceding the serving of refreshments under the chairmanship of Doty Imbody.

To Live in Palo Alto:

Marsha Ann Rahn Is Recent Bride

Marsha Ann Rahn became the bride of Alan B. Aufenkamp at a ceremony conducted on the eve of Thanksgiving at the First Methodist Church in Palo Alto.

Marsha is the daughter of Albert T. Rahn Jr. and has a sister, Candace Susan Rahn, who attends Monte Vista Christian School in Watsonville.

Alan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Barney Aufenkamp Jr. of Nemaha, Nebraska. His parents were here for the wedding.

SATIN AND LACE

As Marsha was escorted to the altar on her father's arm, guests caught their first glimpse of her bridal gown of white satin and lace. Fashioned with a chapel train, back sash detail and three-quarter length sleeves, the dress was further detailed with a lace bodice embroidered with sequins and pearls.

The bride's veil was fingertip length caught to a white satin crown embroidered with pearls and rhinestone tear drops. Marcia carried a prayer book which supported pink cymbidium orchids surrounded by a spray of stephanotis.

Maid of honor for Marsha was Gloria Gonzalez. Her sister, Candy, was a junior bridesmaid. Also preceding the bride in the wedding party were Nancy Lebkicher, Sue Lechner, Menlo Park, both of whom are past Rainbow Girls. The bride herself is a past grand officer of that organization.

Bridal attendants wore aqua silk organza over aqua taffeta. Flowered head bands and net mitts completed their pastel ensembles. Each girl carried gold spider chrysanthemums and wore an opal necklace.

Best man for Alan was William Hall of Redwood City. His ushers were Ron Kelly of Nebraska who is studying at San Francisco State and Leo Jacobsen of Montana.

Reverend R. Marvin Stuart performed the ceremony in a church decorated with white chrysanthemums, candles and white satin pew markers. Betty Tyler sang at both the wedding and the reception. Providing instrumental music during the ceremony was organist William Howie. At the reception Doris Tyson accompanied the vocalist.

For her son's wedding, Mrs Aufenkamp chose a gown of beige lace over taffeta. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of white cymbidium orchids. The reception was held at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in San Mateo.

Marsha attended Menlo-Atherton High School and Santa Rosa Junior College. She has recently been employed by Sears in Hillsdale.

Alan is a graduate of Auburn High School in Nebraska and Weslyn College. His family includes three brothers and a sister, Dr. D. D. Aufenkamp of San Mateo, Delbert Aufenkamp of Nemaha and Pfc. Ernie Aufenkamp who is now serving in Korea. His sister is Mrs. Floyd Heimbuch of Alaska.

Troop 79 Holds Picnic In Woodside

Intermediate Scout Troop 79 of Ravenswood had a cook-out on Friday at Huddart Park in Woodside. The menu prepared by patrols was walking salad, potluck foil cookery and chocolate pudding.

William Bradbury of the Menlo Park Fire District gave the girls some simple instructions on first aid, as an aid to them while on field trips.

As a recent service project the scouts babysat for the blood donors at the bloodmobile in Palo Alto. Lynn Crouch, Lorna Blend, Sheila McManamy, Marcia Curley, Betty Snowden and Linda Terrell were the baby sitters.

Beverly Taylor and Linda Kay Parish are new members of Troop 79. Leader of the troop is Mrs. William Bradbury and the co-leader is Mrs. Charles Crouch.

Calendar Annual Tea

Members of the Menlo-Atherton Newcomers Club are giving their annual Christmas Tea next Thursday, Dec. 8, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Eugene J. Mapeski, 17 Lowery drive, Atherton. The affair is open to the public.

Mrs. George Norton and Mrs. Arthur Bartoli are chairmen of the affair with Mrs. Gifford Christenson, Mrs. G. Johnson and Mrs. Don Ruder appointed as committee heads.

Mrs. Louis Marangoni and her decorating committee will carry out a gold and silver color scheme throughout the house.

Mrs. John Saunders has assumed chairmanship of the committee handling refreshments.

The Majeski family room will be devoted to a display of member-created gift sale items. Mrs. Cecil Thomas and Mrs. Dean Connaway are in charge of the boutique section of the Yule tea. Sale items include Christmas gift suggestions, holiday season decorations, cookies, candies and other items designed by Newcomer members.

Tickets may be purchased in advance of the tea or at the door. Proceeds from the tea and bazaar sale will be donated to the Needy Family Fund administered by the San Mateo County Welfare Department.

Newcomers Have Marked Their Calendars . . .

. . . for next Thursday (Dec. 8). For that is the day chosen for their elaborate annual Christmas tea. From left to right, Mrs. Arthur Bartoli and Mrs. George Norton, co-chairmen of the afternoon affair, preview the day with Mrs. Eugene J. Majeski, in whose Atherton home the Menlo-Atherton Newcomers will receive their guests. As an added attraction gift tables will be set up in the Majeski family room offering Christmas list suggestions, cookies, candies and decorations.

Menlo Couple Wed In Reno

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Cronk of Menlo Park announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Beth, to Arthur James Angelo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Angelo of Menlo Park, on Nov. 19 at the Park Wedding Chapel in Reno, Nevada.

The newlyweds are living in Redwood City. Both are graduates of Menlo-Atherton High School.

Bethel 242 Initiates 7

Job's Daughters, Bethel 242, has planned its first meeting of the month for tonight at the Menlo Park Masonic Hall on Roble avenue. Choir practice at 6:30 will be attended by all officers and the choir.

Immediately following, at 7:30 p.m., the Jobs will hold an initiation meeting, the last one for this term. Honored Queen Judy Diestel and her officers will initiate the following girls into the Bethel:

Kathryn LaVon Lorenz of Menlo Park; Karen Albrecht, Menlo Park; Elizabeth Wolf; Judith Brown, Atherton; Linda Cohn, Menlo Park; Nickole Briggs, Menlo Park, and Linda LeBaker of Menlo Park.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting to which Mrs. Dorothy Sauer, Bethel guardian, invites all members.

Season Starts Dec. 7

With the announcement of the 49th annual San Francisco Symphony season slated to start Dec. 7, 9, and 10, Mrs. John R. Upton, executive vice president and general coordinating chairman of the San Francisco Symphony Association's women's committees, recently called the first meeting of the Women's Public Interest Committee at the Opera House.

At that time, Mrs. Upton stated that to meet the ever-increasing importance of the Symphony in community affairs, the Women's Public Interest Committee has been combined with the Black and White Symphony Ball Ticket Committee this season. She also emphasized that the amalgamation of the two groups would not only greatly enhance the strength and significance of the committee, but would also enable an augmented number of persons to represent and voice the role of the Symphony in the community.

LEADERS

Mrs. Upton appointed Mrs. F. Ortman Shumate, chairman and Mrs. David O. Harrington, co-chairman of the newly reorganized Women's Public Interest Committee for the forthcoming 1960-1961 Symphony season.

The concert schedule for the coming season will consist of 20 Wednesdays at 8:30 p.m., 12 Thursdays at 8:30 p.m., 20 Fridays at 2:15 p.m., and 12 Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. Patrons subscribing to both the Thursday series and the Saturday series will hear the entire repertoire for the season.

At the close of the first meeting of the season, committee members were reminded that without continued support of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, there would be no opera, ballet, or "pops" concerts, since all these mediums are dependent upon the nucleus of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Among those who have accepted committee appointments are Mrs. Paul A. Bissinger, Mrs. George Thomas Brady, Mrs. George Thomas Brady Jr., Mrs. Jurek Byczkowski, Mrs. H. Stephen Chase, Mrs. George Christopher, Mrs. Douglas Dimond, Mrs. Lloyd W. Dinkelspiel, Mrs. Donn C. Douglass, Mrs. Arthur B. Dunne, Mrs. John Ehrlich, Mrs. Henry K. Evers, Mrs. Harold K. Stork Report

IT'S A BOY for Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Carlstead, 625 Laurel avenue, Menlo Park, who welcomed their first child on Oct. 27. Born at Sequoia Hospital, the baby weighed in at 7 pounds, 9 ounces and has been named William Milton. His grandparents are Dr. Edward Carlstead of Webb City, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Braxmeier of Quincy, Ill. The Braxmeiers will see their grandson for the first time next month when they plan to visit Menlo Park. Bill will be baptized at Nativity Church on Nov. 27.

* * *

DONALD ALLISON is the name chosen for the third child and second son born to Mr. and Mrs. Ira Beattie on Oct. 25. Th baby was born at the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital where he tipped the scales at a sturdy 8 pounds, 4 ounces. Donald's mother reports that his sister, Patricia, aged 12, and his brother, David, aged 9, are willing helpers in the care of the baby. The Beatties are in Menlo Park for a year while he attends Stanford University. Their home is in New Brunswick.

A BABY GIRL is the newest member of the household of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Moran, 98 Monte Vista, Atherton. Their second daughter was born at Sequoia Hospital on Oct. 19. Her birth weight was recorded at 6 pounds, 7½ ounces. Noel Ross is the name chosen for the new arrival. Her sister, Michele, is 2½ years old. Grandparents are Mrs. E. J. Moran of San Francisco and the late Admiral Moran. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Potvin of Grosse Point, Mich.

* * *

LISIBET is the name chosen for Mr. and Mrs. Michael Racz' second daughter who was born at Sequoia Hospital on Oct. 20. She weighed 6 pounds, 2 ounces at birth. She has an older sister, Mary, who is 11 years old. The family makes its home at 323 Chester street, Menlo Park.

* * *

A SECOND SON is the newest addition to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Steele T. Diezel, 719 San Benito avenue, Menlo Park. Born on Oct. 25 at Sequoia Hospital, Mark Allen weighed in at 7 pounds, 12½ ounces. The baby's brother is Denny Lee, aged 2. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Koch of Redwood City. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Diezel of Seaside, Calif., are the paternal grandparents.

* * *

A FOURTH CHILD has been welcomed to the household of Lawrence H. Wilson, 1840 Valparaiso avenue, Menlo Park. Weighing in at 4 pounds, 7 ounces, the baby was born at Sequoia Hospital on Oct. 26. Julia Marie is the name chosen for the family's second daughter. Lisa Ann, 6, is the baby's older sister. Mark, 4½, and Steven, 2½, are Julia's brothers. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. Nicolai of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. L. Kulhanek of Redwood City.

A CHRISTMAS PARTY to benefit the family of a Dutch-Indonesian refugee will be held at 505 Charleston road, Palo Alto, Saturday evening, Dec. 3. The Women's Alliance and the Laymen's League of the Unitarian church are the sponsors. A live orchestra will provide the music. Dr. Robert Sweeny, chairman of the refugee project, announces that Julian Hafkensheid, a radio technician, who fled to Holland from Indonesia during the revolution in 1957, will arrive in Palo Alto with his wife and four children early in 1961.

College Heralds Yule

Students and faculty at College of Notre Dame, Belmont have planned two events which are part of the preparation for the Christmas season.

On Tuesday, students and faculty marched in acedemic procession to the building site of Notre Dame Memorial Chapel now under construction and placed tesserae stones in a mosaic cross which will be an integral part of the sanctuary wall.

The mosaic cross will be 12 feet by 9 feet in size and was designed by Sister Margaret Mary, head of the art department of the college. The cross will be set in exposed aggregate and will be the center of the sanctuary wall behind the altar.

PLAY OF DANIEL

The second event is the forthcoming production of The Play of Daniel to be presented on Dec. 10 and Dec. 11 by the music and drama departments of the college. A genuine liturgical drama composed in the 12th century for performance in church as part of the celebration of the Christmas mystery, the play is centered around Daniel, the prophet who foretold the time of Christ's birth.

This is the second performance on the West Coast and features professional singers as well as the University of Santa Clara Glee Club, Immaculate Heart Boys' Choir, Notre Dame Elementary School Girls' Choir and the College of Notre Dame Chorus. First presented in 1958 in New York by Pro Musica, the play has been repeated there each Christmas; has toured Europe as part of President Eisenhower's International Cultural Program, and was first performed on the West Coast last summer at the Bach Music Festival in Carmel.

TICKETS

Tickets may be obtained for the Dec. 10 evening performance or the Dec. 11 matinee, by writing College of Notre Dame, or phoning LY 3-7676.

Church Ladies Set Sale

The ladies groups of the Community Church, University avenue and Bell street, East Palo Alto, are holding their annual bazaar on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1-3.

Hours are Thursday evening, 7-9 p.m., Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. until sold out.

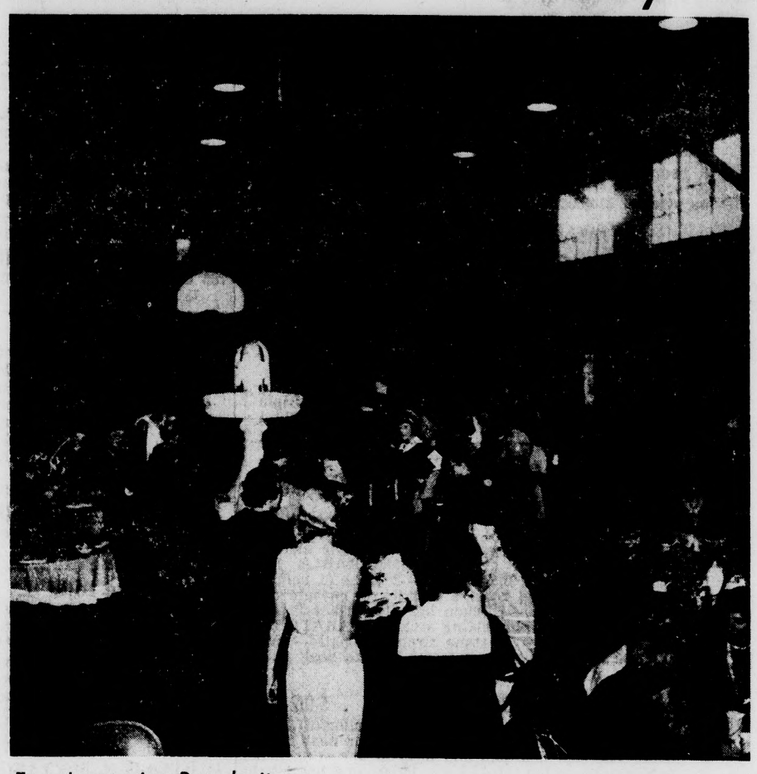
Castillega Mothers Club Scores Success With Holiday Table Sets



Ever Increasing Popularity . . .

. . . drew throngs of women from the Mid-Peninsula area to the Castilleja Mothers Club presentation of Holiday Table Settings. The school gymnasium was decorated in a Grecian theme for the building fund benefit which displayed many priceless heirlooms ordinarily found only in museums. Castilleja's ambitious building program was $2,500 closer to completion as the result of the annual presentation of table arrangements.

—Recorder photo

The Castilleja Mothers' Club announces that its Christmas program and monthly business meeting will be held on Dec. 7 at 10 a.m. in the school chapel.

On Nov. 15, the Mothers' Club presented its annual Holiday Table Setting benefit. As a result of their efforts in gathering together and setting up priceless heirloom tables and conversation piece settings, the school building fund has been swelled by over $2500. The success of the fund-raising affair can be further measured by the fact that each year, for the five years the event has been programmed, the settings have been more and more beautiful and the financial return has also grown progressively.

At the Dec. 7 meeting, plans for the forthcoming year will be discussed and the students' mothers will be brought up to date regarding the progress of the new building program.

Entertainment for the Yule program will be provided by Henry Holt, pianist. Mr. Holt, a well known Peninsula musician, is conductor and director of the West Bay Opera Association. He was artist in residence at Stanford University last year.

Holt's musical background includes having been a concert pianist with NBC in New York. He has also accompanied such opera stars as Lily Pons.

Discuss Cancer Problem

Peninsula residents will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Thelma Ellis Arthur of Monrovia speak on "The Nature of the Cancer Problem" Friday, Dec. 2, at 8 p.m.

The address, sponsored by the local chapter of the National Health Federation and open to the public, will be given at the Children's Theater, Community Center, Middlefield road, Palo Alto. The public is invited.

Dr. Arthur, a physician and surgeon who has practiced in Pasadena and nearby areas for some 16 years, has recently returned from Europe. Her talk will include highlights of studies made at noted research centers of Germany, France and England, as well as material from personal conferences with various internationally-known physicians such as Dr. Alexander Berglas of the Cancer Research Foundation, Pasteur Institute, Paris.

Gloria Swanson is a director of the Independent Cancer Research Foundation which honored Dr. Arthur as guest speaker at a dinner in New York City immediately upon her return to this country. Introductions included a number of distinguished physicians, scientists and industrialists among a group of more than 100 guests.

Dr. Arthur's address in Palo Alto is one of a limited number of health education talks she is contributing this year to the steadily increasing international emphasis now being placed upon nutritional and chemotherapeutic approaches to healthful living.

Musicale Set For DAR Dec. 5 Meet

El Palo Alto Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be entertained musically at a meeting to be held Dec. 5 at the home of Mrs. Thomas T. Whitson, 2020 Waverley street, Palo Alto.

Beth Jasper, flutist, will play selections for the harp composed by American musicians. Robert Bowman of the Stanford University music department, will accompany her and will perform a group of piano solos.

Mrs. Howard M. Vollert of Menlo Park, chairman of genealogical records, will report on the Bible and California pioneer records, which the members of her committee have collected to add to the records for the California State Library.

On Dec. 2 (tomorrow) the Northern Council of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet at 11 a.m. for reports of state chairmen and luncheon at the Bellevue Hotel in San Francisco.

Winter Dance Plans Made By Beth Am

The Senior Youth Group of Congregation Beth Am is planning its first winter dance, "Rhapsody in Blue," for Saturday evening, Dec. 3.

The dressy evening party will be held at the Veterans Memorial Building, 1455 Madison avenue in Redwood City from 8 p.m. until 11:30 p.m.

Don Kobayashi and his Combo will provide music for dancing. Refreshments will be served. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Sponsor Ballet Preview

On Saturday, Nov. 26 at 11 a.m. in the Peacock Court, Hotel Mark Hopkins, the Junior League of San Francisco, Inc., in cooperation with the San Francisco Ballet Guild and the Children's Theater Association of San Francisco sponsored their annual Ballet Preview.

The preview, which has traditionally preceded the San Francisco Ballet's winter production of the "Nutcracker Suite" and "Beauty and the Beast," featured Dick Ford as guest speaker. Mr. Ford is best known by the younger television viewers for his program, "Hop, Skip and Dance," which is in its sixth year on KQED. He was assisted by members of the San Francisco Ballet who danced portions of the two ballets.

The preview was presented for children and parents who plan to see the ballets at the Opera House. It was open to the public at no charge as a community service by the three sponsoring organizations.

THE ANNUAL Christmas luncheon of the Women's Alliance of the Palo Alto Unitarian Church, 505 Charleston road, is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 15, at 12 o'clock.
